Russia Holds Switzerland Responsible for Assassination Through Alleged Negligence.

CURZON AND KRASSIN CONFER IN LONDON

British Government Refuses to Be Tied in Action by Protests of the Opposition in Attitude Toward Russia.

By the Associated Press. MOSCOW, May 18.—A Russian note sent by Foreign Minister Tschitcherine to the Swiss Government today held that Government responsible for the recent assassination at Lausanne of M. Vorovsky, unofficial representative at the Near East Peace Conference there, through the alleged neglect of the Swiss officials to guard him.

Laborites Disturbed Over British-Russian Situation.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, May 18.—Discussion arose in the House of Commons yesterday between the Government spokesmen and the Laborites as to the actual significance of a lengthy meeting between Foreign Secretary Curzon and M. Krassin, the Soviet Commissioner for Foreign Trade.

Replying to the debate, the Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs, Ronald McNeill, contended that the British ultimatum to Moscow still stood, and that that had been done was to give time to Krassin in which to communicate with his Government. He said that the ultimatum was held in abeyance. He expressed dissatisfaction with McNeill's statement, which he took to intimate that no further note would be received from the Soviet unless it was in the form of an acceptance of the British demands.

71 PERSONS DIE IN FIRE AT SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT

When the stairway collapsed, many were impaled on the jagged timbers, and others were pinned down by the weight of bodies above them. Those who had made their way out of the building turned at once to aid the victims, but they found little opportunity to do so, the only exit, except windows, being cut off.

Seeing the hopelessness of their position a number of persons jumped from the windows, suffering broken bones and other injuries. Several mothers buried their children into water hands below.

Forty-one children, 15 men and 15 women, including a negro nurse, were burned to death, and in some cases because all members of families lost their lives bodies remain unclaimed.

Lost in Effort to Save Others.

Eyewitnesses said a number of men lost their lives in efforts to save others. In some instances they went their way to safety but on learning of the desperate situation inside the building they returned in an effort to rescue women and children.

B. F. Bush Made Director-General of the National Aviation Meet

He Predicts Races in October at Bridgeton Will Give St. Louis Terminal for Transcontinental Traffic.

Benjamin F. Bush, chairman of the board of directors of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, yesterday was appointed director-general of the National Aeronautic Association, Oct. 1-3, the feature of which is to be the Pulitzer Trophy Race.

Bush, who was at a meeting of the Finance Committee of the Air Board when the appointment was announced, immediately accepted and said:

"I regard the appointment not as an honorary one, but as an opportunity to do something worth while for the country. Other cities are making extensive preparations for the development of commercial traffic, which many believe is just ahead. The international races should give St. Louis an adequate air terminal and place this city on the line of future transcontinental traffic."

He added that the advertising value of the races to St. Louis would be incalculable and would redound to the progress of the city. Bush said that he would confer with the next few days with M. Russell Shaw, executive vice chairman of the National Aeronautic Association, and Hugh W. Robertson, assistant to the president, and would devote personal attention to arrangements for the meet. He told A. T. Perkins, Louis P. Aloe and George S. Johns, who waited upon him, that he had been working for years to make St. Louis an important point in transcontinental railroad transportation and would likewise devote himself cases because all members of families lost their lives bodies remain unclaimed. The more seriously injured were taken to hospitals at nearby places or taken to their homes. Five of the victims, suffering from burns and broken limbs, were brought to a local hospital.

Funeral services for the dead will be held jointly at six o'clock this afternoon near the site of the school building it was announced this morning by a committee appointed by Mayor Garrison of Camden, which is in charge of the arrangements. The plan also is to bury all at the same time and in the same grave.

The death list follows: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Humphries. Mr. and Mrs. B. G. McLeod and one child. Mrs. Britt Croft and two children. Wesley Hendrix and one daughter. Mrs. M. R. Rhodes, Camden. assiduously in the interest of St. Louis in transcontinental transportation by air.

Bush also is a member of the board of directors of the St. Louis Aeronautic Corporation, which is to finance the air races and provide a permanent aviation field for St. Louis at Bridgeton. The Finance Committee yesterday received reports indicating substantial progress. J. M. Kurn, president of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad, has been made a member of the Executive Committee of the Air Board, of which W. Frank Carter is chairman.

Camden. Son of Huey Hinson. Two children of James Hinson. Donnie Truesdale. The teachers at the school, all of whom were saved, are: Miss Ollie Stephens Dillon, principal; Miss Esther Garvin, Kitchen's Mill; and Miss Vula Prosser, Lake City.

The Cleveland School is in the center of a fertile section, but sparsely populated. The road leading to the scene is a little more than a one-way path, along the edge of a plowed field.

Four of Eight on Stage Dead. The blaze began as we were shifting the scenery between the second and third acts," said C. C. Bruce, 19 years old, who played a part in the comedy. "Four of the eight who were on the stage are now dead."

"I was standing under the oil lamp, which was swinging from the ceiling, and was partly hidden behind the curtain. When suddenly it fell. Some believe the heat from the lamp had melted the soldering and loosened the iron ring, causing it to fall. Others say it was a loose wire. She was severely injured and he hurt his legs in the leap. Afterward, he declared the fact that the stairway door opened inward caused most of the panic and death."

Those nearest the platform pushed those ahead towards the narrow doorway," said Chief of Police E. G. Whitaker. "The panic, of course, became terrific, and in some unexplained manner, probably because of the jostling and straining, the door became closed, and the people behind it pushed, keeping it closed. This left only the windows and they were soon choked."

"The explosion of the lamp and the overturning of others threw the place into semi-darkness, and this coupled with the smoke, added terror to the confusion."

"The first explosion had scattered burning oil over a number of persons, and their clothing immediately became a mass of flames. Between trying to fight the flames that were consuming them and trying to get to the doors and windows, it can readily be seen what an inferno the place was soon turned into."

The Cleveland school community is made up of small farmers and mill operatives, and families of hundreds of other small communities throughout the South. The police and fire departments of Camden are on the scene restoring some semblance of order.

The bodies pulled from the smoking ruins were laid in one long row on the grass of the school yard, while weeping mothers and frantic fathers and terror-stricken children rushed up and down the line seeking to identify missing relatives.

"But for the panic all who were in the crowded little schoolroom could have been saved," said the Rev. J. J. Johnson, pastor of the Baptist Church of Camden. He escaped uninjured when a spectator dragged him from the doorway into the street. The frantic mothers and their parents had crowded the minister's wife and little daughter escaped with slight injuries. His little son was burned to death.

Police are conducting a search for a touring car answering to a description given by Miss Gladys Phoenix of 4223 St. Ferdinand street, who was the only witness to the accident. WOMAN IN CAST THROWN OUT OF BED BY ROBBERS

Mrs. Pearl Warford, Suffering From Fracture of Spine, Vainly Begs Intruders to Be Considerate.

Mrs. Pearl Warford, 35 years old, of 1909 La Salle street, who has been kept in bed in a plaster cast since she suffered a fracture of the spine six weeks ago, was brutally jerked from bed and thrown on the floor by two robbers who ransacked her home for money yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Warford resisted the robbers' entry and was severely injured. She was left on the floor for several hours before being discovered by neighbors.

Mrs. Emma Manes of 1917 La Salle street, who has been attending Mrs. Warford, left the house about 4 p. m. to go to her own home, leaving Mrs. Warford and a 3-year-old son alone. The robbers entered about 20 minutes later and demanded money. When told there was none in the house, they ransacked the rooms and found no money. Mrs. Warford begged them to be considerate of her condition, explaining that her spine had been fractured and that she was in a cast.

With a scornful oath, the larger of the two men jerked Mrs. Warford from bed, throwing her to the floor. Mrs. Warford resisted the robbers' entry and was severely injured. She was left on the floor for several hours before being discovered by neighbors.

The board went on record at that time as being opposed to any salary increases during the present fiscal year, which began last month. The Public Safety Committee of the Board of Aldermen today sent the firemen salary increase bill back to the board with changes so that the increase provided would be $10 a month.

Public Hearing on Revocation of Old People's Home Permit

Health Commissioner Recommends Action on Grounds of Mismanagement. A public hearing on an application to revoke the permit of the Margaret's Non-Sectarian Old People's Home, 3428-28 Franklin avenue and 1115 South Vandeventer avenue, on the grounds of mismanagement, will be held May 22 by the Board of Public Service.

Health Commissioner Starkloff has recommended the revocation of the permit, following police investigation of the complaint of Miss Clara Casper of 1840 South Thirteenth street, who stated that, although she paid $300 for a permanent home in the institution on Franklin avenue, she was locked in a room and deprived of food for a day. The managers of the home are Margaret A. and J. C. Vorbeck.

Mrs. Vorbeck, when asked to comment, said there was no basis for Miss Casper's complaint.

DRIVER HELD FOR DEATH OF PASSENGER IN HIS AUTO

Criminal Carelessness Charge Against William F. Wieland, Whose Car Overturned.

William F. Wieland, 25 years old, of 4009 North Taylor avenue, today was ordered held on a charge of criminal carelessness by a coroner's jury investigating the death Wednesday night of Howard P. Williams, 31, of 746 Westgate avenue, whose neck was broken when an automobile driven by Wieland overturned on King's Highway, south of Natural Bridge avenue.

Wieland is at City Hospital suffering from skull fracture and internal injuries. Testimony of witnesses tended to show that he was driving rapidly when his machine hit the curbing of a parkway in the center of King's Highway.

C. E. Smith, 6053 Clemens avenue, a civil engineer, testified he had hit his automobile on Natural Bridge avenue for the boulevard stop and saw the Wieland car speeding toward the crossing from the north. Wieland swerved to avoid, striking the car of Smith, and the car crashed on for several hundred yards. Then he saw a spurt of flame from under the automobile. It turned over and skidded along the street for about 70 feet. Smith estimated the speed of the machine at between 40 and 50 miles an hour.

Horace Patty, 5957 Page boulevard, testified he was sitting in a filling station near the street intersection where the accident occurred. He was traveling about 40 miles an hour, he estimated.

ESTIMATE BOARD REJECTS $10 INCREASE FOR CITY FIREMEN

Amended Bill, Cutting Figure From $25, Suffers Same Fate as Its Predecessor. The proposed salary increase for city firemen was acted upon unfavorably today by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment for the second time in a week. An increase of $15 a month for all firemen from $100 up to $125 was rejected in the ordinance which the board considered last week.

The board went on record at that time as being opposed to any salary increases during the present fiscal year, which began last month. The Public Safety Committee of the Board of Aldermen today sent the firemen salary increase bill back to the board with changes so that the increase provided would be $10 a month.

Comptroller Nolte saw no reason why the board should reverse its decision of last week. He called attention to the present $125,000 deficit against the city treasury.

The permit for use of the streets was granted about a year ago, and the promoters of the proposed bus line have announced on several occasions that they were going to install the service. The fare is to be 10 cents a single trip.

BOMB THROWN IN U. S. CONSULATE BUILDING

Office of Legal Firm in Mexico City Damaged by Explosion—Consul on Third Floor.

By the Associated Press. MEXICO CITY, May 18.—Two bomb explosions in the United States Government premises in Mexico City have occurred this month, the first at the American Embassy on May 4, and the second today in the building housing the American Consulate-General. The fact of the first explosion did not become known until after the bombing at the consulate building today. Neither bomb did any harm.

The author of this horrible crime is not only an enemy of the constituted authorities, but also of the entire Mexican people because this act took place at the psychological moment when the Mexican and American commissioners are in conference for the purpose of arriving at an understanding that will lead to a resumption of diplomatic relations between the two governments," said Valentín Quintanilla, chief of the Mexican secret service.

John Bayton Payne and Charles Beecher Warren, United States commissioners, conferring with two Mexican commissioners, were notified of the explosion. Warren said he felt sure that some disgruntled individual was responsible and that no organized plot existed.

Investigation indicated that the bomb had been crudely constructed of black powder.

Now, a Quick Quaker Oats

Cook in 3 to 5 minutes. The quickest cooking oats in the world. Now your grocer has Quaker Oats in two styles. One the kind you have always known—the other is Quick Quaker.

Quick Quaker cooks in from 3 to 5 minutes. And it cooks to perfection. So it is almost like a ready-cooked dish.

No other oat flakes on the market cook anywhere near so quickly. The two styles are identical in quality and flavor. Both are flaked from the finest grains—just the rich, plump, flaky oats. A bushel of choice oats yields but ten pounds of these delicious flakes.

But in Quick Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook in a flash.

Ask for Quick Quaker if you want this style. Your grocer has both. But always get Quaker Oats for their delicious flavor.

SIGNS MULTIPLY THAT HARVEY SOON WILL QUIT

(Continued From Page One.) asks an opinion cannot be defined. The Hague court cannot be made to cover anything but justiciable questions. Matter of state policy must be dealt with by conference of Powers. For explanation in my letter to Hays of March, 1919. It is very unwise to declare the League dead. It would not be true. The League has hardly begun to function because the terms of peace have not yet been enforced by the victorious nations."

Harding Has Changed. It never has developed whether Harvey or Mr. Harding was increased at the contents of that telegram, but the stories from Marion at the time represented Mr. Harding as believing that Root was wrong and that The Hague tribunal could accomplish all that was necessary in international co-operation policy of course, conference and diplomacy directly between nations affected.

Much water has gone over the dam since that time, but President Harding has found Elihu Root's advice was sound, namely, that the world court which Root helped to make is worthy of the support of the administration, and that its relationship to the league is not an insuperable barrier to indorsement of the project.

TRUST COMPANY SUES FOR 11 1/2 SHARES OF LAMBERT STOCK

Action Brought Against Estate of Marion L. G. Lambert and Mrs. Lily W. Lambert.

The American Trust Co. today filed suit in Circuit Court against the estate of the late Marion L. G. Lambert, and the heirs of Mrs. Lily W. Lambert, to obtain possession of 11 1/2 shares of stock of the Lambert Pharmacal Co. and dividends accruing from the stock. The stock, according to the suit, is part of the estate of Mrs. Lily Lambert, who created a trust of 30 years' duration which expired in 1919. In 1919, the suit was filed by Marion L. G. Lambert, created a trust by which his three children would receive $5000 a year from his share of the income on the stock for the term of 30 years, and a cash sum of $25000 a year until her marriage.

At this time, the suit alleges, Lambert attempted to obtain possession of the stock and offered to pay the $5000 a year himself, but this was refused by the trustees who are now asking possession.

At the expiration of the trust created by Mrs. Lily Lambert it was agreed that the shares should be transferred to the new trust with the specification that 11 1/2 shares of the stock, Marion and Stafford Lambert, would receive $3000 and $1000 of income each year, respectively, until attaining the age of 25 years, and a cash sum of $25000 a year until her marriage.

At this time, the suit alleges, Lambert attempted to obtain possession of the stock and offered to pay the $5000 a year himself, but this was refused by the trustees who are now asking possession.

STUDENT DETAINED IN MOUNT CASE OBTAINS RELEASE

Athlete Had Been Taken Into Custody on Statement of Girl That He Could Solve the Mystery.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, May 18.—Charles "Chuck" Palmer, star football player and senior at Northwestern University, after being held part of the time in a cell which he referred to as a dungeon, since 1 p. m. yesterday in connection with the State's Attorney's investigation of the disappearance of Leighton Mount, a freshman, after a class rush in 1931, was freed on his own recognizance today by Chief Justice McKinley. Palmer was directed to return to court at 2 p. m. today.

Palmer was produced in court on a habeas corpus action instituted by his sister, Miss Edith M. Palmer, and the athlete complained to Chief Justice McKinley concerning his treatment by the authorities. He declared that he was taken from the Sigma Nu fraternity house early yesterday morning without being permitted to communicate with relatives, friends or attorneys and was lodged in a police station cell.

Cell Nearly Dark, He Says. Further, he declared, that for 12 hours of the time he was locked up he was held in what he termed a "dungeon," not with bars, but with solid steel walls except for barred windows at the top and a window so small that the cell was nearly dark.

The football player, who was taken into custody yesterday after Mrs. Violet Bachman, who before her marriage was friendly with the athlete, had said he had told her that he was in the Mount case, declared that he was safe and that he knew all about the Mount case, further complained of the food the police had given him. He told Judge McKinley that the food was bread andologna sausage. Palmer had denied the story told by Mrs. Bachman and said he knew nothing about the Mount case.

Palmer testified that he was taken from Evanston to a downtown office building in Chicago by the State's Attorney's detectives. He said he was questioned in a private office by two attorneys, Wharton and Shabaro, for more than an hour before being taken to an outlying police station. At the station, he was placed in solitary confinement. He told the court, despite protests that no warrant had been issued for his arrest and no charges lodged against him.

Details of Girl's Story. "Chuck" took me from a couple of times," Mrs. Bachman reported. "The first time we talked about Mount he said, 'Mount is safe. I can't tell you where he is, but I can tell you where he is.' The next time we talked about it he said, 'I can only tell you this much, Mount is all right. I know all about how he came to be missing. I can't tell you.'"

Abbott L. Fletcher, an attorney of Minneapolis, who came here to make a personal investigation of the student's disappearance, announced that he had talked with two students who saw Mount at the class rush of Sept. 31, 1931.

"There is no question that Mount is either alive now or that he committed suicide," Fletcher said. "He indicated as his belief that authorities had the names of the two students."

Hears Rocks Were Identified. Mrs. J. L. Mount, who identified as that of her son the skeleton found under an Evanston pier, reported to the authorities that word had reached her that rocks supposed to have covered the skeleton were being removed. An investigation was ordered.

In an interview with reporters last night, Walter Dill Scott, president of the university, said: "Expert investigators, chemists and geologists should be asked to study the procedure and determine whether the rocks might have been shifted of the body by natural means."

"Perhaps the policeman who removed the skeleton was mistaken."

"My Buddy" played by any one, will tell you the story of the first love. But Paul Specht and his Orchestra made the record of this hypnotizing love story takes the gold medal.

400 CHILDREN PLAY IN SCHOOL CONCERT

Tiny Members of 35 Kindergarten Bands Join Elementary Orchestras in Program.

Music from nearly 400 instruments crashed through the academic atmosphere of Cleveland High School's crowded auditorium last night as representatives from 25 kindergarten bands accompanied the combined junior elementary school orchestras in their fifth annual concert which began at 8:15 o'clock.

The kindergarten children, some 100 in number, many of them not more than 5 years old, played tambourines, cymbals, triangles, bells and snare drums, and two of their number beat big bass drums with a vigor that sent forth rumbling rhythm in volume that belied the size of the diminutive performers.

These youngsters, with red diag-
waist and shirt fronts, were the most popular among the concert musicians, and prolonged applause greeted their participation in the opening number, a medley overture of America's national airs.

"This," said Eugene M. Hahnel, supervisor of music, who is directing the annual series of public school concerts being given Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights of this week and next, "is the beginning of the beginning of music. The children are taught rhythm first. Then, as they progress, our system allows them to take up whatever instrument they desire to play. They learn first to follow leadership. You shall see."

Kept Time With Orchestra.
Then, in a vivacious rendition of "Yankee Doodle," the children kept almost perfect time to the orchestra behind them on the big stage. In "America," they beat time when directed so indicated. Then they helped play "Marching Through Georgia" and "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," drew cheers on "Dixie," and made their bow on "The Star-Spangled Banner."

The proud mothers, fathers, brothers and sisters who packed the auditorium to capacity, applauded until the children played their final piece of the evening, the second number of the program, a march, "New York Life," by Ascher.

On the two-hour program which followed, an outstanding soloist was Master Joseph Goldman, violinist, from the Garfield School. Joseph played the first movement, Allegro, in the Violin Concerto No. 1, D Major, by Beethoven. He moved through this difficult selection with grace and expression that startled his audience.

There was unusual talent exhibited in his music, and after he had finished the applause insisted upon an encore lasted nearly five minutes.

"We are going to try to keep Joe from getting a big head," Supervisor Hahnel said in a speech about the prodigy. "We are going to get him
a brass band—for inside his hat!
Joe has no encore prepared this time, but next time, if he is so popular, he will play 10 or 12."

Joe says there will be no trouble about keeping him at his music. He is just 12 years old now, and in the seventh grade. He has been studying the violin nearly five years.

"I like jazz best," he confided, "but I am going to play classical music.
It is better, more to it, I think." He is the son of a tailor.

a medley of popular songs, in which the audience joined in, singing. Tonight a combined chorus of 750 singers from the five high schools will give the concert.

On the program is a song, "The New America," the words and music of which were written in 1918 by former Circuit Judge Charles Clafin

Allen of St. Louis. This is to be sung by the chorus and audience.
Next week the concerts will be:
Wednesday, 750 singers from the seventh and eighth grades; Thursday, concert by selected players from the elementary school orchestras; Friday, concert by combined music clubs of the high schools.

DENIES THAT MRS. CROKER WAS EVER WIFE OF GUY R. MARONE

Attorney Makes Statement Regarding Charges Made in Dublin Probate Action.

NEW YORK, May 18.—Denial that Mrs. Bula Croker, widow of Richard Croker, Tammany chieftain, was ever the wife of Guy R. Marone, as charged in a probate action brought in the Dublin Court of Appeals, was made last night in behalf of Marone, through his attorney, Michael R. Matteo. Marone was found in Greenwich Village yesterday by the New York World, but refused to discuss the Croker charges.

A charge of bigamy was made against Mrs. Croker in probate proceedings over her husband's estate. The charge was made by Mrs. Ethel Croker White, daughter of Mr. Croker, who declared Mrs. Croker had married and lived with Marone in Massachusetts several years before her marriage to Croker.

"Mrs. Croker is not the woman the opposing litigants are confusing as the former wife of Marone," the attorney said. "I will further add that Mrs. Croker was never Marone's wife and I can establish this fact beyond the question of doubt. Marone's former wife is still alive, and I have called Mrs. Croker's attorneys of this fact."

Marone is 44 years old and is living with his second wife. He is of Italian birth and came to America in his youth and now is a traveling sales agent for several produce houses.

40 A MONTH AVERAGE PAY OF MISSOURI RURAL BANK CASHIER

Disclosure of Replies to Questionnaire Sent to Employees of 1162 Institutions in State.
The average salary of the rural bank cashier in Missouri, who usually is the active head of the bank, is $140 a month. This is the disclosure of replies to a questionnaire from 1162 banks, comprising more than three-fourths the total number in towns of 5000 and less in the State.

The average cashier's salary in towns of 2000 or less is $110; the minimum being $60. The figures have been compiled by the Analysis Committee of the Missouri State Bankers' Association.
A. J. Stanfield, Deputy State Commissioner of Finance, commenting upon the low salaries, said that competition among rural bankers has rendered them unable to pay higher salaries.

Reduce Those Dangerous Swollen Veins

Doctor's Recent Discovery Also Heals Boils, Carbuncles, Abscesses, and Open Sores in a Few Days.

Physicians are prescribing and hospitals using a new and harmless, yet very powerful germicide that not only cures enlarged or varicose veins and makes them normal, but also relieves gonorrhea, enlarged glands and weeps.

Ask any first-class druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces lasts a long time, and furthermore if this wonderful discovery does not produce the results anticipated you can have the price refunded.

It is not wise for anyone to allow swollen veins to keep on enlarging. Often they burst and cause weeks of pain, suffering and loss of employment. Start the Emerald Oil treatment as directions advise and improvement will begin at once. All druggists can supply.

GOV. SMALL TESTIFIES AT HERRIN RIOT INQUIRY

Does Not Blame Either Gen. Black or Col. Hunter for Failure to Send Troops.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 18.—Gov. Small does not blame either Col. Samuel Hunter or Adjutant-General Carlos Black for failure to send troops to Herrin before the rioting occurred at the Southern Illinois Coal Co.'s mine which resulted in the slaying of 24 men, 21 of them nonunion workers.

The Governor made that clear yesterday when he testified before the legislative committee investigating the riot.

GOV. SMALL TESTIFIES AT HERRIN RIOT INQUIRY

Does Not Blame Either Gen. Black or Col. Hunter for Failure to Send Troops.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 18.—Gov. Small does not blame either Col. Samuel Hunter or Adjutant-General Carlos Black for failure to send troops to Herrin before the rioting occurred at the Southern Illinois Coal Co.'s mine which resulted in the slaying of 24 men, 21 of them union workers.

The Governor voluntarily appeared before the committee and at the conclusion of his testimony the committee adjourned until next Tuesday.

Discrepancy Noted.
There was one outstanding discrepancy between the Governor's testimony yesterday and Adjutant-General Black's statement before the committee several weeks ago. The Governor said he received no report or advice concerning the Herrin situation from the General until the afternoon of Wednesday, June 21. Gen. Black had said he forwarded to the chief executive all reports made to him by Col. Hunter, his representative at Marion and Herrin, before and during the rioting. He testified Col. Hunter had advised him Tuesday and Wednesday of the situation but his version of these reports differed from that of the Colonel, who also testified. Gov. Small said he was away from this city from April 21 until July 4, and that the first reports of impending trouble in Williamson County which came to him were Associated Press dispatches. The acknowledged receipt of a letter from his secretary, "either Tuesday or Wednesday morning." Was the first official report made to him of the incipient rioting.

Call From Lester.
The next word I recall was that I received a call Wednesday afternoon from W. J. Lester, owner of the mine that later was attacked, who I think was at the Great Northern Hotel, Chicago. He seemed very much excited and told of his men men at the mine being threatened. He asked for troops. I asked him if he had seen the Sheriff and he said he had.

"I then put in a call for Gen. Black and he told me Col. Hunter was on the ground and that (Black) had ordered three companies of the National Guard held ready for action."

Later that night, the Governor continued, he again talked with Black, who "was very much relieved" and who said Col. Hunter had arranged a truce whereby the non-union mine workers were to leave the county the next morning by train.

The next morning, he read Associated Press dispatches telling of the killing of non-union men.

The entries are much better than last year, insuring a complete show. The purpose is to promote backyard beautification. Many prizes are offered. A premium book may be obtained by telephoning Missouri Botanical Gardens. Admission to the show will be free.

GERMANY FORBIDS ABSINTHE
Advertising of Alcoholic Beverages Restricted.
BERLIN, May 1.—Two important developments in Germany have brought joy to the "dry" workers' camp. The Reichstag has adopted a law prohibiting the production and sale of absinthe, and measures have been inaugurated to restrict the public advertisement of alcoholic beverages.

The state railways have announced they will receive no more such advertising after May 1 and Berlin's municipal railways have been directed hereafter to accept advertisements for liquor interests only on the same terms and to the same extent as they take them for other firms.

How to Bathe Face to Remove Wrinkles
Show its remarkable antirug and tonic properties. Because, knowing, clever women all over the country have been using the axolite face bath to "take up" their faces, remove wrinkles and draw flabby cheeks and neck back to normal. After using the axolite, the face immediately feels much firmer. The skin tightens evenly all over the face, thus reducing lines and sagging. The formula is: Powdered axolite, one ounce, diluted in which least one-half pint. These ingredients are, of course, perfectly harmless and there is no difficulty in obtaining them at any drug store or toilet counter.

RECOUNT TO VERIFY ELECTION OF DAUES

Contest Did Not Disclose Sufficient Irregularities to Change the Results.

Recount of the ballots cast in St. Louis last November for Judge of the Court of Appeals, which will be completed by the Board of Election Commissioners today, did not disclose sufficient irregularities to change the results of the election, it was said at city hall today.

Judge Charles H. Dues was declared elected by a majority of 1252 in the district, which includes the City of St. Louis and 24 counties. Davis Biggs, defeated Democratic candidate, filed a contest, asking for a recount of ballots cast in St. Louis and in St. Louis County.

Dues Gains in County.
The recount in the county, completed some time ago, gave Judge Dues a gain of 125 votes. The original returns in St. Louis gave Judge Dues a majority of 11,654. The greatest loss it will be possible for Judge Dues to sustain in the recount is about 800 votes and it is possible that he may lose only about 300 or 400, it was said.

The exact loss will depend upon determination by the Supreme Court where the contest is pending of questions regarding the validity of ballots which have been questioned. Belief that the failure of Biggs to gain sufficient votes in the recount to overcome a 1200 majority will cause the dismissal of other pending election contest cases was expressed by city hall politicians.

Other Contests.
The election of William Tamm as Recorder of Deeds is being contested by Jesse Lukenbill and the election of Albert Schweitzer as Prosecuting Attorney is being contested by Ernest P. Oakley Jr. Tamm was declared elected by a 14,000 majority and Schweitzer obtained an 11,000 majority.

The recount in the Biggs-Dues case alone cost the city $15,440 in salaries in addition to incidental expenses. Two Republican and two Democratic clerks were required to sit at each table at which the ballots were being counted. A stenographer was stationed at each table to take descriptions of the ballots and other information. The number of tables in operation varied from two to eight. The recount started Feb. 1.

AMERICAN NEWS BY RADIO FOR AMERICANS AT SWEDISH FAIR

Correspondence of the Associated Press.
GOTHENBURG, May 17.—With the beginning on June 29 of the so-called "America-week" of the Jubilee Exposition in Gothenburg, a direct radio news from America to Sweden is to be maintained, according to an announcement here.
This feature of "America-week" has become possible through the kindness of the U. S. Naval Communications Bureau, which has agreed to allow the use of the government station at Annapolis. The Swedish Department of Telegraphs has undertaken to erect a temporary receiving station at Kungälv, near Gothenburg, and to install for this service one of the new sets of instruments, manufactured in America, already delivered and intended for the high-powered radio station now being constructed at Grimeton on the west coast of Sweden.

A thousand words a day of up-to-the-minute American news will be flashed across the ocean and featured in a daily American news bulletin which will be published by the American-Swedish News Exchange, under the auspices of the Sweden-America Foundation, which has taken the initiative in establishing the radio station now being completed at Grimeton.
The demand for the latest American news published in English at the Gothenburg fair is expected to be very great, judging from the thousands of accommodations that are being booked by American travelers.

STUDENTS FIGHT WITH POLICE

Six Arrests in Demonstration at University of Pennsylvania.
PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—The vicinity of the University of Pennsylvania campus was the scene of wild rioting today when undergraduates, celebrating "Her Day," defied orders to disperse, and fought with the police. Several students were injured. Two thousand students were in the streets for the annual celebration which marks the advance of all underclassmen, and when seniors for the first time do the cap and gown.
Hurling milk bottles and other missiles while in a snake dance formation, the revelers caused considerable property damage and terrified residents of the campus vicinity. Trolley and motor traffic was disrupted. A riot call was sent in and a special detachment of police arrived to curb the demonstration. They fired into the air, but the rioting continued until a police lieutenant and a senior student induced the rioters to return to the campus. Six were arrested.

Strike Threatened Over Raids

By the Associated Press.
SYDNEY, N. S. W., May 18.—Four thousand miners in the Glace Bay coal fields voted last night to call a 24-hour strike if the provincial police make further raids upon the homes of United Mine Workers in their search for seditious literature. The arrest of any of those whose homes have already been raided also would be the signal for a strike, it was said.

MAN HELD IN DETROIT ON ST. LOUIS WIFE'S CHARGE

J. E. Jones Says He Sent Her $500 a Month—She Denies It; Alleges Abandonment.

Joseph E. Jones, former president of the Lincoln Fiscal Agency, the selling organization of the Lincoln Housing Trust of St. Louis, is under a $2000 bond in Detroit, following his arrest there on a charge of wife abandonment. His wife, Mrs. Florence Evelyn Jones, resides at 5961 Raymond avenue.

An information charging Jones with nonsupport was issued May 19 by the Prosecuting Attorney's office. On information that Jones was in Detroit, the police there were requested to arrest him, and it was stated that the expenses of his return to St. Louis would be met.

A dispatch from Detroit states that Jones said he had left his wife, as he found it impossible to get along with her, but that he had been paying her $500 a month for more than a year. He said also that he recently deeded her a $40,000 home and left her three automobiles. He declared his arrest was due to a plot by certain business enemies.

Mrs. Jones is now employed as office manager for the International Finance Corporation, room 2115 International Life Building. She said to a Post-Dispatch reporter, who saw her at the office today, that her husband left her April 17, 1932, making no provision for her or for their two children, and an older child of hers, by a former marriage. She said that in September for seven months thereafter, he sent her $150 a month, $1200 in all, and that this was the extent of his contributions to her support.

"He couldn't leave me the house and automobiles," she said, "for the house was already mine, and the two automobiles, a Packard and a Lincoln, are mine too. He had no car. Because of his departure and failure to support me, I was forced to go to work."

Jones and his wife have been contending in the courts for a year past over their property interests. No divorce proceeding has been filed.

Sued Husband for Stock.

Mrs. Jones sued her husband and another trustee in April, 1932, for the recovery of 2600 shares of stock in the Lincoln Fiscal Agency. It developed in this suit that Mrs. Jones was formerly vice president, secretary and treasurer of the company. Jones said, in his reply to his wife's suit, that the 2600 shares which she claimed represented an over-issue of stock, and he asked that the trustees be authorized to cancel them.

Mrs. Jones ceased active connection with the agency in January, 1932. Before that, it was testified in their litigation, her salary was $125 a week and his was $275; after she left, his salary was $375 a week. It was testified that the two co-operated, before their marriage, in developing the Lincoln Agency, and that he gave her the stock in question at the time of the marriage. Later, he said, he asked his wife to transfer the stock to him for voting purposes.

Gets Second 100-Day Term.

Henry McQuillan, paroled last Monday from the workhouse, where he was serving 100 days on a fine of $300 assessed April 21 for peace disturbance, was fined $300 again today by Police Judge Matthews on a charge of vagrancy, and in lieu of payment of the fine, was sent back to the workhouse for another 100-day term. McQuillan's police record shows that since 1915 he has been fined five times for being drunk on the street, twice for peeing against a wall, and three times for peace disturbance. His home is at 1442 North Eleventh street.

INDUSTRIAL DEMOCRACY UNDER CONSIDERATION IN SWEDEN

Government Committee Recommends Councils in All Plants Employing 25 or More Persons.

By the Associated Press.
STOCKHOLM, May 18.—Organized influence and participation of workmen in the direction and control of Swedish industrial enterprises which employ 25 persons or more is recommended in a plan just submitted to the Government by the official Committee on Industrial Democracy.

According to the committee's scheme, so-called councils may be established in industrial plants of 25 or more employees, providing such a measure is approved by the authorized labor union concerned.

In the larger concerns these councils shall consist of three to nine delegates for the workmen, sitting with not more than three representatives of the employer. It shall be the duty of the operation council to utilize the technical experience of the individual workman for the good of the concern, and the employer must furnish the council with necessary information regarding production. The council also may pass on questions of change in the equipment and methods of the plant.

$8315 IN CLAIMS ARE ALLOWED AGAINST DEWITT TAYLOR ESTATE

Awards to Residents of St. Louis County Are Verified by Entries in Banker's Ledger.

Seven claims totaling $8315 were allowed yesterday in the Probate Court at Clayton against the estate of De Witt Clinton Taylor, neighborhood banker and lawyer of Manchester, St. Louis County, who died March 14 from injuries suffered in a fall downstairs at his home. This makes $19,315 of claims against the estate that have been allowed so far. The new claims were filed by Mrs. Theresa M. Hauhart, William Arfy, Mathilda Arfy, Rosa Wallenstein, A. H. Mueller, Agnes Kempf and Emma Bopp, all residents of St. Louis County, and were verified by entries in Taylor's ledger.

Including those allowed, the claims filed against the Taylor estate total $40,231. Taylor's affairs were found to be muddled by his manner in keeping accounts. Many of his transactions with clients were of a confidential nature and no written record of them was kept. An inventory of the estate, in addition to $78,950, listed as good assets, mentioned securities amounting to $105,000, described as worthless.

REED ASSAILS W PLAN AS SUPER ENDANGERING

So-Called Judges Would

Before Wholesale Gr

United States Senator Reed's condemnation of President Harding's suggestion that the United States participate in an International Court of Justice, made last night in a speech before the National Wholesale Grocers' Association at Hotel Statler, was as bitter as were his attacks three years ago upon the League of Nations recommended by former President Wilson.

The speech last night was the Senator's first public discussion of national and international questions in Missouri since his re-election last fall, and was his second utterance against the World Court, the first having been made April 12 before the American Drug Manufacturers' Association at New York.

A declaration of opposition to governmental control of business and industry, of the prohibition and woman's suffrage amendments as indicative of centralization of governmental power at Washington, prefaced Senator Reed's attack upon the World Court. His address was broadcast by K. S. D. the Post-Dispatch radio station.

Another attack upon the World Court will be made here at 8 o'clock tonight at the Coliseum by United States Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, another of the "irreconcilables." As was the case with Senator Reed, the St. Louis speech of the Idaho Senator will be his first extended public utterance upon the subject.

The proposed International Court of Justice would be composed of political representatives appointed by the political powers of the nations participating. Senator Reed said; they would be swayed by the prejudices and desires of the nations which appointed them, in passing upon international disputes and there would be no appeal from their decision.

Decrees of the court would be unenforceable except through establishment of a power greater than the individual power of any nation, Senator Reed declared. The United States, he added, can best serve humanity by continuing in the path it has followed since the establishment of this nation.

"Some People Not Satisfied." "Some people are not satisfied with this centralization," Senator Reed said, discussing the prohibition and woman's suffrage amendments, which, he said, are infringement upon the powers of the states. "They want to set up a world government," he continued, "and the United States will be a minority stockholder."

"We voted on it," Harding said he would stay out. "Cox said he would go in. Harding went in and Cox stayed out. Now they want to establish a world court, a Court of International Justice. How do you know it will not be a court of injustice?"

"Who is taking judges from the courts and sending them out as protagonists of this new thing?" "What is a court? Take our own courts. We select for judges men of superior qualifications, men who are learned in the law, who are known as men of high standing in the community, whose reputation is beyond reproach."

"Do we trust those judges? I tell you that we do not. On all questions of fact we have juries to decide the issues. But do we then trust the decrees of those two branches of the court. I tell you not. They proceed under fixed rules of law which we wrote. And do we trust them then? No. We have set up at least one appellate court for every trial court to review the findings."

Freedom From Prejudice. "Are we, then, content? No. If there be any case involving the life or liberty of an individual the Governor has the right of pardon and in many cases we are privileged to carry the issues to the Supreme Court of the United States."

"Will you point me, sir, to any comparison of that and the court they talk of establishing? Not only that. We provide that no Judge of error shall sit in any case in which he is interested. We try our cases under tribunals as free from prejudice as a human tribunal can be."

"Let's lay that down beside the court before which the proposition to try Uncle Sam for his life."

"It will be composed of the political representatives—call them Judges or whatever you will—appointed by the political governments of fourteen nations. England will be there, France will be there, and Italy and perhaps Russia and Norway. Certainly Japan will be there and made by a Chinaman."

"Which one of you is willing to go to trial for your life before that kind of a jury even summoned in your own country under your own law?"

Views on International Law. "That isn't all. Under what rules of law will they act? You say under international law. So-Called Judges Would Be Swayed by National Prejudices, Senator Declares in Speech Before Wholesale Grocers' Association.

'ONLY ONE VEXING ISSUE BETWEEN JAPAN AND U. S.'

Ambassador Hanihara Says in New York Address That Immigration Is Disturbing Element in Relations.

"AMERICA FRIENDLY, WANTS TO BE JUST"

Japan, He Declares, Has No Desire to Send Any People Here We Do Not Want; Relations With China.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 18.—Treatment of Japanese in this country, in the opinion of Masamune Hanihara, the Japanese Ambassador, is the only thing likely to disturb the friendly relations existing between the United States and Japan.

Addressing the Japan Society here today, the Ambassador declared that "the happy result" of the Washington conference was the "removal from our mutual international relations of the feeling of suspicion which had disturbed them." He added, however, that the American attitude toward the Japanese immigrant was the one question "in the whole bright outlook," which "vexes the minds of both people."

"I want you to understand," said Hanihara, "that there is no question of our desire to send in more immigrants. The question is simply one of elementary principle in international intercourse, that is to say, of discrimination or no discrimination based on color or nationality."

"Now it is clear to me that America wants to be just and that she is friendly to Japan. On the other hand, Japan has no desire to send to your country such of her people as you do not desire. So, with no conflict of great interests between us, and with no cause on either side for distrust or suspicion, but with evident desire and every reason on both sides for a mutually beneficial friendship, I am sure that the common sense and collective wisdom should find the right solution."

With this question settled, there will be nothing for us to come that may likely disturb our happy relations."

Washington Conference.

Discussing the benefits derived from the Washington conference, the Ambassador declared it had been apparent for some time before the conference that distrust and suspicion had crept into the minds of some of the people of both countries. "It seems to me," he continued, "that this had been due largely to influences—some merely ignorant, others malevolent—which had been exerted persistently in recent years to undermine the traditional friendship of the two countries. But, in spite of these efforts, the conference gave both countries a real opportunity to talk things over, and the people had a chance to learn what was going on."

After declaring there were "excellent reasons, both material and ideal," for Japan and the United States to be "friendly terms," Hanihara said:

"Japan sells to the United States more than all other countries combined, excepting only China, and Japan is America's best Oriental customer."

Japan is a valuable trade connection in the Pacific region. Hanihara said, adding that the connection is one of the most valuable to Japan than to America."

"We understand these facts," he continued, "and understanding them so plainly, it would be preposterous if we were so blind to our own interests as to attempt any action, or adopt any policy, that might injure these markets and sources of supply."

Relations With China.

As to Japan's relations with China, the Ambassador declared his country's policy toward China always had been one of "peace, friendship and mutual accommodation."

By Government employees, Senator Reed said. He asked if any of his audience knew of a person who had gone to Washington to take a job in one of the departments who did not do so because it was a better job than he could get at home.

These Government employees make recommendations concerning business which the Government is operating. Senator Reed said. The recommendations are approved by superior officers and finally the President approves something that he knows nothing about, he added.

"What man here would turn his business over to any President we have had in the last 30 years?" Sen. Reed asked. "They have been appointed men but they were not wholesale grocers. They couldn't manage your business. They have been professors, lawyers and philosophers but they have not been men who could create or did create or

Newspapers Turning Definitely From Sensationalism to More Dignified Standards, Editor Says

Willis J. Abbot of Christian Science Monitor Asserts That Is Only Way to Stimulate Influence.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 18.—A distinct trend away from the sensationalism of the present daily press toward a more informative, dignified and restrained newspaper, is seen by Willis J. Abbot of Boston, editor of the Christian Science Monitor, he said, in an address before the Modigli School of Journalism here last night.

The young journalist just entering upon his professional career should not accept the example of the "so-called great dailies of today," he said, "which are the newspapers of the future is going to be, said Abbot."

"Certainly a tendency toward more dignity and restraint will have to be developed and cultivated if newspapers editors wish to recover that public influence which it universally is admitted they now have lost," Abbot asserted, "and if we are to recover the policy of authority with which the successful editor of 25 years ago often spoke."

Syndicated Service.

The development of the syndicated service is largely responsible for the decadence in the fortunes of the newspaper press as a whole, Abbot said, a decadence manifested in the steadily diminishing numbers of the papers that survive.

"While this service has enormously reduced the editorial expenditures of newspapers in this advantage of economy, it has cost originality and individualism," he said, "and it has made it impossible for any newspaper to be as good as it once was. It is not natural that the real competition among newspapers will proceed from the business office rather than from the editorial room."

"I do not advocate the control of news columns by advertisers but I would welcome any influence which is brought to bear to make newspapers more dignified and more acceptable to clean-minded readers than they are today—whether that influence emanate from an agency, from a school of journalism, or from a church. I think the time is at hand when there will be in the mind of the educated journalist, such as a school of journalism should produce, a sharp demarcation between the varying types of journalism, and another distinction drawn between a circulation obtained by the legitimate means of news gathering and the circulation obtained by the devices of the charlatan, the sensationalist, or catch-penny gift distributions."

Struggle of Newspapers.

Abbot pointed out as an example the existing condition which confronts the Associated Press, "in its struggle between the sensational and the conservative elements in journalism."

"It is fair to say that so far as the Associated Press alone is concerned, a very great part of its matter is available for a public holding in the ethical standards maintained by The Monitor," said Abbot, "yet it is going to be interesting to watch the policy of this great news-gathering agency in the coming struggle between the sensational and the conservative elements. Already, newspapers that are members of the Associated Press that have ambitions

WOMEN CALL ON GOV. SMITH TO VETO DRY REPEAL BILL

Group Organizing National Committee for Enforcement of Laws Adopts Resolution.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 18.—A group of women, said to represent more than 10,000,000 women voters throughout the country who met yesterday to organize a National Committee for the Enforcement of Laws, adopted a resolution urging Gov. Smith to veto the bill passed by the Legislature repealing the State Prohibition Enforcement Act.

Among organizations represented at the meeting were the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Daughters of the American Revolution, Y. W. C. A., and the Federation of Women's Boards of Foreign Missions of North America.

ANNEXATION PLAN FAVORED

Three Organizations Favor Statewide Vote Under Initiative.

Three organizations adopted resolutions last night favoring the plan of the Greater St. Louis Conference for the merger of St. Louis and St. Louis County as one county under municipal government. The organizations were: Margaret A. E. McClue Chapter, U. D. C.; Horace Mann School Teachers' Association, and Benton Betterment Club.

Title meetings were addressed by Hugh K. Wagner, president of the Greater St. Louis Conference. The plan of the conference is to submit initiative vote in November, 1924. The conference has been receiving complaints from county residents of lack of police protection under the present form of government and of danger from open sewers.

RUSSIAN AND JAPANESE SHIPS FIGHT

MOSCOW, May 18.—A Vladivostok dispatch received here announces a fight between a Russian patrol boat and two Japanese steamers poaching in Russian waters. The Japanese resisted the Russian patrol boat and in the shooting that followed one Russian was killed and three Japanese were wounded. The steamers were seized by the Russians.

TIDE IN FLOW OF GOLD IS TURNING, HOOVER DECLARES

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The turning of the balance in international trade against the United States, indicated by latest Commerce Department reports of imports and exports, is chiefly important in the tendency it will have to reduce the country's stocks of gold, Secretary Hoover said today, in a general discussion of the subject. A vast volume of imports, he declared, might in reality be considered somewhat of an index to the country's need for raw materials and semi-manufactured goods to keep up the volume of production recently attained in industry.

"I don't think the excess of imports over exports has any relation to the fundamental situation within the nation in production and consumption," Hoover said. "However, it does mark the turning of the tide in the flow of gold, and we may be exporting our surplus stock soon."

American Consuls Leave Russia.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The State Department was advised yesterday that American Consul Tuck at Vladivostok and other members of the consular staff, left that city Wednesday for Tokyo, thus completing the withdrawal of American consular representatives from the territories of soviet Russia.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Profiteering on Mothers' Day.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

READING of the recent rise of sugar and the strike among the women of the country to break the price, it strikes me that another strike should be started to counteract the profiteering of a day that has been set apart each year, known as Mothers' day. It is a shame that a day like this, carrying the sentiment that it does, should be taken advantage of by the florists throughout the country the way it has.

I went into one of our leading florists of the city and asked them what would be the charges on having a potted plant sent to my mother in Washington, D. C. After deciding that a potted begonia would be satisfactory, I was informed that the price would be $4, and upon mentioning that I thought the price was pretty high, I was informed that it was not because it was Mothers' day but that the price was so high, but because flowers were so scarce, and was further informed that I was lucky at that, for if I had waited a day later it would have cost me $11.10 extra to wire the order, but they would save me that much by mailing the order through.

I gave them the money, being assured that the order would be taken care of. It was just received a letter from mother telling me that she received my flowers and how pretty they were, and also told me what they cost. Two bunches sweet peas, two bunches garden pink, two bunches forget-me-nots.

If the people for the next few years will let the florists keep their flowers and remember mother by some other means, I think, probably, they will find out that there is something else in this world besides robbing the people and fighting for the dollars.

Misleading Car Signs.

W. H. H. Does ANYBODY have "Easton Ave. Only" on front of the Vandeventer line cars, and dump the passengers at Evans avenue? Why not Evans avenue only?

This morning at 8:15, on car No. 2959 I and some eight others were ordered out at Evans avenue. I asked why the Easton avenue sign, and stop at Evans? The motorman looked silly and offered to take us to Evans. I refused. I told the other people I had left the car. I heard a guess that this is done by the men themselves without the sanction of Mr. Perkins. Hence the query.

C. SMITH.

The Poor Office Worker.

EVERY day we read of different complaints about wages. But there have never been any from the poorly paid bank clerks. I have worked in one of the largest banks in St. Louis for the past 15 years, and receive the large sum of $150 per month. We have another clerk that was in this same bank when I entered its employ who receives $105. Imagine any man working for that length of time for such a salary? They are offering young men $30 to stay. Who in this day and age can live on that salary? Our president receives the small sum of $44,000 a year. Is this justice? Won't our big officers open their hearts and give their poorly paid clerks a raise of $10 or $15 a month?

Young men, if you ever expect to have anything, stay away from the banks. They are the poorest payers you can find today.

A DISGUSTED BANK CLERK.

Avoiding the Washash.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

RECENTLY my wife went to Detroit via the Washash. I am asking her to return by some other road. Mr. Tussaud, if he reads this will, no doubt, laugh at my simplicity. Let him remember, though, the English King who laughed at some American one who did a similar simple thing. Also let him remember that the citizens of St. Louis have just passed an overwhelming vote of confidence in our program of civic improvement, and we are going to back it up.

He argues that, to carry out our city plan would cause more smoke. Let us elect the road within the city limits, thus doing away with the smoke entirely.

ROBERT FULTON PERKINS.

An Angry Renier.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

FOR what do we elect a Mayor and Aldermen? Is it for the protection of the real estate companies and the rent hawk, or what? About all they ever do is to entertain some of the big notables that might come to our town, and make a little speech at some banquet, and they sit up a little notice now and then about the light company, street car company, and the phone company charging too much for their investment, but that is all that comes of it. But what about the poor man? As taxes are paid up on his property, why do not our men that we elect in office look after us? Can't he be that there is nothing but "influence" in this world, that there is no protection for the poor?

My opinion, fellow sufferers, it is that we make a clean sweep and elect men for the people at large. I think it is time that something ought to be done; we are talked about all over the country as a town of suckers.

A VICTIM.

THE MEXICAN CONFERENCE.

The position of the United States regarding relations with Mexico, as stated by Charles B. Warren, one of the delegates appointed by President Harding to the conference at Mexico City, is supported by the public opinion of the United States. That position is this: The United States has no desire to infringe upon the sovereignty of Mexico or interfere with her internal policies. With the friendliest intentions our representatives are present at the conference to compose all misunderstandings and differences and restore normal, cordial relations. We insist, however, that the principles of justice recognized by international law, and which experience has demonstrated as indispensable to the stability of commerce and permanent friendly intercourse, must prevail and operate.

No exception can be taken to that position by anybody who believes in property rights. Nevertheless, the difficulties which have prevented Washington from recognizing the Mexican Government cannot be removed by such a declaration. The Post-Dispatch does not believe that the Harding administration, or any subsequent Government at Washington, can retreat an inch from the stand taken by Secretary Hughes with respect to property honestly acquired by Americans in Mexico before the adoption of the "Carranza Constitution" and its famous Article 27, which virtually vested in the Mexican Government the right and authority to confiscate the holdings of both nationals and foreigners. The fact that provision was made for payment for such property with Government bonds, which might or might not be worthless, does not refute the charge of confiscation, but rather confirms it. Nor can the charge be met by official assurances that the present Mexican Government has no intention of defrauding American or other foreign investors. Finally, it cannot be satisfactorily answered by a court decision, susceptible of various construction, which might or might not be flouted by a later regime.

Yet the land question is the heart of the Mexican problem. The old system of land tenure that conferred titles for shadowy military service, or corrupt accommodation, or by way of lordly favoritism, and thus created preposterously vast estates and the inevitable caste condition of prince and peon, cannot persist. The iniquity of this system is the source of the Mexican people's bitter poverty, bondage and illiteracy and is the genesis of many of their numerous revolutions both before and since Madero.

The Government at Washington, through its able delegates at the Mexico City conference, cannot ignore the long years of spoils and tyranny that make up Mexico's history. We must, somehow, take practical cognizance of those old realities and must show a sympathy with the aspiration of the Mexican to own his land and thus arise from groveling serfdom to the dignity of citizenship.

The unfortunate truth is that we have had, and still have, our hunkers who want us to wage a war of conquest upon Mexico and seize the rich resources of that country. The Mexican people are aware of that, and they know, too, that some of those hunkers are on intimate terms with the powers that be at Washington. The Mexicans also contend that some of the property holdings of Americans in Mexico were questionably acquired and they naturally suspect the sincerity of a Government that seems concerned with safeguarding such holdings while officially silent as to the high purposes of a nation to achieve economic and political freedom for its people.

The United States Government cannot compromise with theft, though perpetrated with the sanction of spurious legality. We cannot be a party to confiscation. But surely a way may be found to impress upon the Mexican Government and people our good faith and true solicitude for their progress, prosperity and happiness. That is what our delegates to the conference must do.

THE CASE OF DR. TIKHON.

A good deal of sympathy has been expressed in this country for Dr. Tikhon, former head of the Russian Church, who is to be tried for plotting against the soviet state. It should be understood that his case is quite different from the lamentable one of Mgr. Butchkevitch. Dr. Tikhon reached his eminence under the Czar, and is an avowed advocate of czarism. After the revolution he conducted a widespread propaganda for the restoration of the Romanoffs. Not much sympathy would be held for a German priest who endeavored to bring about the return of William Hohenzollern, but that is precisely the position of Dr. Tikhon. The question of punishment, however, is another matter. Dr. Tikhon is an old man. Nothing could be less likely than the restoration of the Romanoffs. Alive, and even active, Dr. Tikhon could do very little to disturb the stability of the soviet government. Dead and a martyr, he could do a vast deal. The wise course would be to render him innocuous. If, indeed, any such thing is necessary, without shocking the world with another bloody tableau.

HUGHES' INTERIOR VISION.

Let us not be unfair to Secretary Hughes. Doubtless the armistice and other treaties concluded at the Washington conference fostered confidence in the stability of peace in the Orient. But when the Secretary boasts before the National Conference of Social Work that America has "every assurance of abiding peace" so far as "our relations with other peoples are concerned" he is begging the question of America's need in the field of foreign relations. He is assuming that our greatest problem since Harding was inaugurated has been to keep us out of war.

That is a rather craven assumption for a minister of foreign relations to make, and, in this case, a false one. America was not in imminent danger of war with Japan. The willingness with which Japan signed the treaties, moreover, and her honorable withdrawal from Shantung in accordance with her word disclose that Japan was without will to war and that the securing of her plighted word was no great feat of diplomacy.

As to the rest of the world, which means Europe, the Secretary boasts of keeping us out of war with exhausted Britain, bleeding France, prostrate Germany and emaciated Russia? Conditions have not been more favorable for keeping America out of war with Europe since Napoleon. Mr. Hughes knows full well that this is not the present issue of our foreign relations.

"The gravity of unsettled issues," which he mentions, he dismisses with a Polyanna aversion for fact. He finds "throughout the world ample reason for encouragement in the earnest efforts to remove the economic evils following the great war in the exhibition of enhanced industrial capacity, in the swift repair of damaged areas, in the extraordinary extent of recovery despite all difficulties."

Here is a fair picture which, with the exception of home reconstruction in France, none of the thousands of travelers returning from Europe has been able to see nor any of the news sources to report. As a foreign secretary Mr. Hughes is cultivating the vision of a Secretary of the Interior.

The president of the National Association of Manufacturers, who charged employers with spending too much time on the links, was probably playing to the galleries. But the galleries didn't respond—they were out playing golf.

SUGAR WISDOM.

Fred Mason, vice president of the American Sugar Refining Co., says the price of sugar today reflects the conditions of demand and supply. He admits, however, that speculation in futures followed an announcement of the Department of Commerce that the carry-over from last year would be much reduced by the end of this year and an interpretation by a headline writer that this would mean a shortage.

But what is the consumer to do to guard against artificial demand inspired by reports of fact from the Government and against speculation in futures boosting the price of the present article? Is he to suppress speculation in an article that does not and may never exist and boycott the commodity so as to relieve the demand which is blamed for the high price? On the contrary, he is given this golden text of sugar:

Be careful of sugar; don't waste it, don't hoard it, don't skimp. If everybody starts to boycott sugar the supply which comes from Cuba will go to Europe and there will be a shortage.

This is a terse and pointed code for the consumer, but it could be made even more terse and pointed. It might as well read: "Buy sugar as usual and shut up." You can't suppress Government reports, inaccurate headlines, speculation or high prices. Be thankful that the speculators' prices are no higher than they are, for if you boycott sugar the supply will go to Europe, there will be a domestic shortage and prices will shoot even higher. You are damned if you do and damned if you don't. Therefore, don't. Take the bit willingly, be a good consumer and your sugar ration will be safe.

In case of a wet and dry war, will Mr. Bryan and his million men spring to arms over night in defense of the poor, old, battered Constitution?

With one brave word, one word to end all pain.
One word of love to banish fear again—

MR. ANTWINE'S OPINION.

"MAYBE while Senator Borah is here he will tell us what was accomplished in the first instance for those who lost the war by keeping us out of the League of Nations." Mr. Antwine said.

"It was upon the expectation that something was to be accomplished for them that gave the opposition to the league its great strength among our German-Americans, and we have wondered since if those people perhaps feel there is an explanation due them."

"It would be difficult to imagine Germany in a worse plight than she is in. If this is what was accomplished for her by rallying all German in the United States to the fight on the league, it is doubtful if she can survive a similar act of friendship by her American friends in the matter of the international court."

"Senator Borah can doubtless show us where all these people were right and how they would be equally right in keeping us out of the international court. He has evidence invisible to people looking on with no worse motive than to mock the truth, and I suppose he has come here to submit it."

"He will find us from Missouri," Mr. Antwine said.

THEODORE TRILSEY.

Someone has recently pointed out that no great work of fiction withholds from the reader how the principals make their livelihoods—an equation which will not merely interest us greatly but without which no novel has achieved distinction. This will surprise most readers of fiction, if it is indeed true. We are disposed to consider that fiction writers of the first class are those who are capable of interpretation in the arts and sciences, as Mr. Wells for instance, knows biology and as Rafael Sabatini reveals in this passage a familiarity with architecture:

There arose under the supervision of the gifted engineer, worthy associate of Messer Torriani, a noble two-storied mansion of mellow red brick, flooded with light and sunshine by the enormously tall millioned windows that rose almost from base to summit of each pilastered facade. The main doorway was set in a projecting wing and was overhung by a massive balcony the whole surmounted by a pillared pediment of extraordinary grace, now partly clad in a green mantle of creepers. Above the burnt red tiles of the roof soared massive twisted chimneys in lofty majesty.

The place of the American novelist is less than it might be because we have too much remaining having in it nothing but romance. We have no one who knows the sea as Joseph Conrad, now visiting this country for the first time, knows it; or the desert as Robert Hichins knew it when he wrote "The Garden of Allah." The American novel needs to know more of the poor life and less of how the rich disport themselves, as it needs to be grounded in something more than the rather widespread disposition to mate.

One hardly knows whether to bet on the Derby or whether or not Gov. Smith will sign the bill repealing the prohibition law in New York.

ENFORCEMENT OF FEDERAL LAWS.

From the New York World.

JUST when it became a new departure for the Federal Government to enforce Federal law within the territory of a state, we do not know. Just when it became the duty of a state to relieve the Federal Government of the expense and annoyance of enforcing Federal laws we do not know. As for Mr. Harding, he seems mentally incapable of distinguishing between the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead act. If the President wants the state to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment there is a very simple way of doing it. All that is required is for Congress to repeal the Volstead law and refer the amendment to the several states, each state passing an enforcement law that is in harmony with the act of political immorality and it is the business of Congress so to amend it that it can be enforced. The State of New York as such has no responsibility in respect to this mendacious and dishonest statute. There is no state duty to make this act a part of the state law, or to permit it longer to corrupt the police of the state, or to further to clog the courts of the state and to demoralize the administration of government within the state.

The conflict between state and Federal authority, which Mr. Harding foresees in the event that Gov. Smith signs the repeal of the Mulligan-Gage law exists only in the President's imagination. No such conflict is possible, for the enforcement of the Volstead law will be the business solely of the Federal authority. The conflict comes under the existing arrangement, with its continual clash between state and Federal enforcement agents, and its dual jeopardy. When the Mulligan-Gage law repealed Mr. Harding can use all the powers vested in him by the Constitution to enforce the Volstead law without the slightest danger of interfering "with the functions of the states."

Who has not yet been enlightened on the way to cross a desert,
Or the places to reliquior, "And you don't take any chance,"
Who's unable to illustrate anything that he may say
With a story we may euphemistical-ly call risqué,
I am sure you will agree with me as justly I sing,
Oh, a college education is a necessary thing!
To learn in their variety
The graces of society,
A college education is a necessary thing!

Are you able to expatiate three-quarters of the night
On the many complications of a
Dempsey-Willard fight?
Or to while away an afternoon in stimulating chat
On the merits of a cigaret, an ankle or a hat?
Or to come to the conclusion after strenuous debate
That a guy can fool around a bit
but women should do straight?
If you're not, I am addressing you when solemnly I sing
That a college education is a necessary thing!
Oh yes, and incidentally,
To help develop mentally,
A college education is a necessary thing!

FAILS TO PUT BRYAN ON LEADING COMMITTEE

Moderator Names Another to Body That Will Consider Case of New York Pastor.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 18.—Presbyterians of the United States of America completed the organization of their one hundred and thirty-fifth General Assembly today with the appointment of J. Spencer Chapman of Philadelphia, as vice moderator and the naming of standing committees.

Dr. Charles P. Wishart, the newly elected moderator, caused a surprise when, contrary to the usual practice, he failed to name his nearest rival, William Jennings Bryan, as chairman of the important Committee on Bills and Overtures, the Steering Committee of the convention.

Dr. Wishart selected the Rev. Hugh K. Walker of Los Angeles, for the chairmanship and relegated Bryan to the leadership of the less important Committee on Home Missions. Dr. Walker's committee will pass on the overture from the Philadelphia Presbytery of Harry Emerson Fosdick. Bryan as a leader of the fundamentalists, is ranked as an active opponent of the liberalism of Dr. Fosdick.

Dr. Clarence McCartney of Philadelphia, who brought the Fosdick overture to the Assembly, was placed second in the list of committees. Chairmen heading the Committee on Freedmen.

Dr. Wishart, president of Wooster College, Wooster, O., yesterday was elected moderator, defeating Bryan on the third ballot.

The commiser had led a field of four on the first ballot and of three on the second, when he came within 12 votes of election, but after all other candidates had withdrawn, Dr. Wishart forged ahead, winning by 451 to 427, with 439 votes needed to elect.

Friends of Dr. Wishart based their campaign on the claim that an ordained minister was needed to direct the highly specialized work of the church, and on Bryan's views on the theory of evolution, holding that his position as a leader of the fundamentalists would not be conducive to unity.

Bryan declined to discuss his defeat. He had left the hall when the nomination started and sunned himself on a balcony during the two-hour fight.

Campaign for Pension Fund.
Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America and former Republican National Chairman, last night launched a campaign for a $15,000,000 addition to the endowment fund for aged ministers. In an address before the first "popular meeting" of the assembly, Hays is an elder of the church at Sullivan, Ind.

We compared the pay of Presbyterian ministers to that of many classes of common labor and said the average salary of a pastor of the church was less than that of an alien ditch digger.

Hays declared the question of ministers' salaries is an economic problem of the utmost gravity and that the lack of adequate compensation is the reason for the dearth of candidates for the ministry.

Equal to the Post-Dispatch.
FAIRFIELD, Ill., May 18.—The ninety-third general assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church of America convened in Fairfield yesterday with 56 of the 72 presbyteries of that church represented. Dr. Hugh S. McCord of Marshall, Tenn., was elected moderator, now traveling secretary of the financial budget, delivered the opening sermon to the convention. The Rev. P. V. Johnson, dean of the theological department of Bethel College, McKenzie, Tenn., was elected moderator by acclamation, an honor not otherwise given to any other man in many years. The assembly is expected to take definite action in the matter of chartering a new university at McKenzie, Tenn., and for the enlargement of the endowment for the McKenzie school.

AMERICAN HISTORY FOR CHILDREN

Financial Affairs of Haiti and San Domingo Taken Over by the United States—Haitian Constabulary Organized.

Haiti Chose a New President.

By HENDRIK VAN LOON.
Author of "The Story of Mankind."

UPON almost any street corner in your town you may see a large placard covered with photographs of joyful young warriors in summer uniforms, playing leapfrog beneath a luxuriant palm tree. Below the pictures you will find a cordial invitation to "join the marines" and go to Haiti. Now, the island of Haiti does not belong to the United States, so what are our marines doing there, and why is this invitation extended only to the marines and not to the army?

According to the dictates of international law, marines may be sent into any country to protect their own country's interest, and such an invasion does not indicate a state of war between the nations involved, as is the case when the army appears upon the scene.

Haiti is a negro republic, and when in 1914 the country went bankrupt and the citizens began to indulge in an orgy of one revolution after another, United States troops were sent into the island to protect American property. Then it was suggested that the United States take control of Haitian finances and try to bring some sort of order out of existing chaos. This suggestion led to a heated debate, during the course of which the President of Haiti ordered the murder of no less than 160 of his political opponents. After which the friends of the deceased dug their beloved ruler out of his hiding place in the French legation and shot him.

This little affair was a signal for our marines to step forward and take control of matters. Under their guidance a general election was held and a new President chosen. The new President was in favor of American influence.

In February, 1916, a treaty was signed whereby the United States established a protectorate over Haiti, took control of the finances, and organized a native constabulary under American officers.

Santo Domingo, the eastern end of the island which also contains the Republic of Haiti, is also a United States protectorate. This republic was taken over in 1907, when Dominican finances were in such bad shape that the Government was up to its ears in debt. Lest one of their European creditors come over to collect, United States agents went into the country, and in a few years had put the government back upon a sound financial footing.

In 1909 the citizens of Nicaragua drove out their tyrannical President and asked the United States to help them straighten out their domestic affairs, which had fallen into a very sad muddle. President Taft sent them the help and advice they desired, and in 1916 a treaty was signed by which the United States assumed a formal protectorate over Nicaragua.

If you will look at a map of the countries bordering on the Caribbean Sea, you can better understand the extent of the American sphere of influence. Cuba, Santo Domingo, Haiti, Nicaragua and Panama are American protectorates, while Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands belong to us. The Virgin Islands were purchased from Denmark in 1917 for $25,000,000. When one remembers that we paid only $7,000,000 for the whole of Alaska, it would seem that the price of real estate had made enormous strides in the last few decades.

JURY IN MURDER CASE FAILS TO AGREE

Orville Phelps to Be Tried Again
on Charge of Shooting Samuel and Julius Sokolik.

Falling upon a verdict after four hours' deliberation, a Circuit Court jury which heard the case of Orville Phelps, 20 years old, of 1922 Division street, charged with murder in the first degree, was discharged at 10:30 o'clock last night. The case will be retried. Phelps was indicted in connection with the fatal shooting of Samuel Sokolik and his son, Julius, in the former's butcher shop, 1113 Biddle street, Jan. 15, last. Mrs. Sokolik and a boy living in the neighborhood were in the store at the time. They testified that Phelps looked like one of two men who entered the butcher shop as though to holdup the proprietor. One of them began to shoot before a demand for money was made.

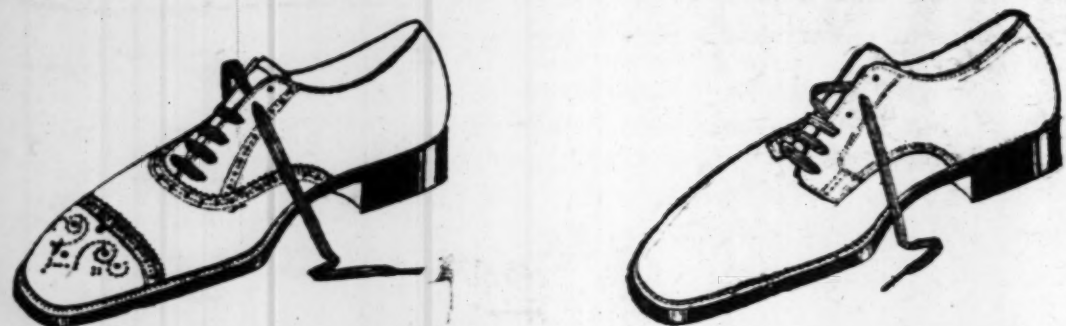

Phelps presented an alibi defense. Two witnesses testified he was repairing an automobile in a garage near Fourteenth street and Case avenue at the time of the shooting.

Roy McMahon, alias Roy Roberts, also indicted for murder in connection with the same shooting, was acquitted by a jury March 16. The evidence of the prosecution in that case was the same as presented against Phelps.

Woman Hurt in Fall in Store.

Mrs. Kate Shortall, 60 years old, of 6914 A. Page avenue, a widow, fell on the floor of a Kroger store at 1209 North King's highway yesterday, suffering a fracture of the left hip. She was taken to Missouri Baptist Sanatorium, where doctors said her condition was serious. Police reported the floor was being scrubbed at the time and was wet.

Only 9 Men in 100 Need Ever Be Bald

—Yet 4 Men in 7
Are Bald at 40

91% needlessly

Science discovers falling hair mostly due to simple infection (Sebum). Now quickly overcomes it.

Written Guarantee to Re-Grow Hair This New Way—New Hair or No Money

This is to offer you, under absolute money-back guarantee, the new Van Ess treatment, which, under actual tests, grew 91 heads in 100.

It is a method that embodies new principles. Principles heretofore unknown to science. Now high authorities say baldness soon may be a rarity. For hair roots seldom die. The Van Ess Treatment revives them. Test it yourself at our risk.

Hair Roots Rarely Die

Records show 4 men in 7 are bald, or partially bald, at 40. Modern science proves this to be unnecessary. Proves only about 9 men in 100 need ever be bald! Baldness is not a disease. Note this fact and mark it. It is merely a symptom of infection—of an infectious scalp oil, known as Sebum.

Remove this infected Sebum and hair will grow. Under the bald scalp, the hair roots are nearly always alive. This is true in about 90% of all cases of falling hair and baldness.

This new method reaches the roots. It makes hair grow. But the public has often been deceived. So we guarantee it. You take no chance of loss.

Hair or No Money

We make our guarantee without reservation—with-out strings. It is absolute. We guarantee to stop falling hair. We guarantee to grow new hair. If we fail, your money back without question.

Note that your own doctor signs the guarantee with each 3-bottle purchase. Thus you assume no risk. It is safe for you to guarantee the treatment. For experiments of years prove it effective on 91 heads in 100. For most authorities approve it. World noted dermatologists now employ it—some charge as much as $500 for the same basic treatment.

We offer it, in correct form for home use, at no more than the price of an ordinary "toilet."

The Infected Sebum

90% of all hair troubles are traced to infected Sebum. It is an oil that forms at the roots of the hair. Its natural function is to supply the hair with oil.

But it cokes on the scalp. It forms a breeding place for bacteria. It clogs to hair and destroys it. It lodges in hair follicles and plagues them. Then germs by the millions start to feed upon the hair. Semi-baldness soon is marked. Then often comes total baldness.

You can see this Sebum on your scalp, in the form of an oily emulsion. On, when dried, as dandruff. But it rarely kills the roots. Hence when you remove it, new hair grows. This is scientific fact—medical authorities will tell you so. You must remove the infected Sebum.

Now We Remove It

For years, science experimented to combat infected Sebum. Finally a 90% effective treatment was found. Now we have embodied it in a home treatment. It is called Van Ess Liquid Scalp Massage.

It is applied a new way—a scientific way. (Note illustration at the right.) It penetrates to the follicles of the hair. It combats the Sebum and removes it. Results are marked. They are quick. In three weeks it stops falling hair. It grows new hair with further use.

We urge you to try this new way. We know the statements we make are genuine—almost incredible. But remember, we back them with an absolute guarantee. There is a guarantee in the top of each package. Read it first before you buy. Note the fairness. Note that we let you be the judge.

Go today to any drug store or department store. Obtain the 3-bottle Van Ess treatment. Have the druggist sign the guarantee. Then give Van Ess a fair trial—60 to 90 days. If it doesn't stop falling hair and grow new hair, your money will be refunded.

We take all the risk. If we succeed, the benefits are yours. And they are worth many times the price we ask. If we fail—the loss is ours. So for your own sake we urge you to try it at once.

VAN ESS LABORATORIES
1607 Lake Park Ave., Chicago, Ill.

These two pictures show a cross section of the hair root or bulb and the case which encloses each hair from the root to surface of scalp (greatly magnified). Germ-infected Sebum causes 90% of baldness and falling hair. Remove it and hair will grow. Illustration A shows Sebum infected hair and B healthy hair.

Costs Nothing

Unless we grow hair. The Van Ess 3-bottle treatment is absolutely guaranteed. You are the skin judge. The treatment is given by your own druggist. All you require is his signature showing you have purchased a money-back guarantee. If it fails, we refund your money. Hence you assume no risk making this test.

Note this New Way

—It Massages the Treatment Directly to the Follicles of the Hair

You can see from illustration that Van Ess is not a "toilet." It combines a shampoo and lotion in one treatment. You do not rub it in with fingers. Each package comes with a rubber massage cap. The cap is a hollow, just over the head, with a hole in the center of the scalp where it can be inserted. At the same time the nipples give your head a massage. It is very easy to apply. One minute each day is enough.

$5.00PLAYGROUND USE BY WHOLE FAMILY URGED BY CUNLIFF

Conversion Into Community Centers, Under Supervision, Recommended by Welfare Director.

There are three outstanding points in the report of Director of Public Welfare Cunliff, made public today, for the fiscal year that ended April 30.

They are: Recommendation for conversion of the playground system into one of community centers to provide recreation for children, adolescents and adults, under supervision, lack of funds having deprived the playgrounds of much supervision considered necessary. The fact that new methods introduced at Koch Hospital have largely decreased the death rate there, changing it from "a place where people go to die of tuberculosis" into a modern sanatorium.

Recommendation that the negro problem here be studied.

In his discussion of the playground problem, the director says that, for lack of money, the former all-year supervision has been reduced to supervision only in vacation. A playground without supervision is as dangerous a form of recreation for a child as a poolroom or saloon, he declares, and at present there is as much juvenile delinquency on the blocks adjacent to playgrounds as on other blocks, though such was not the case when they had continuous supervision.

He recommends the Chicago plan, that playgrounds be made community centers, with community buildings, with gymnasiums, swimming pools, showers, recreation rooms and in some cases branch libraries. The money to be used for playgrounds from the bond issue should be spent in this direction, he says.

Hospital Death Rate Cut.
The reduction in the death rate at Koch Hospital, he said, was 50 percent in a four months' period. He expressed the hope that the extension of the work of municipal nurses and out-clinics will reduce the requirements on Koch Hospital.

"I am hoping," the report continues, "that during the coming year plans will be developed for a farm colony for the insane, for the complete transformation of the city sanitarium from a high-class boarding house into a well equipped mental disease hospital, the establishment of a psychopathic hospital, erection of a building for the tubercular insane and the completion of the original units in the new institution known as the Training School for the Feeble-Minded."

The race problem, Director Cunliff says, is one demanding the attention of the best minds. At present about 1000 new negro workers are being received in St. Louis each month, the reason being the restriction on immigration from foreign countries and the consequent demand for negro labor. There is ground on which homes for negroes might be built, he says, but employed negroes do not ordinarily build homes, but live in homes formerly used by white people. Restriction in certain districts, he believes, will mean the formation of numerous negro districts throughout the city, with the danger of resultant race hatred. Crime and disease know no color line, the director says, in urging that civic groups should aid the municipality in solving the problem of negro housing.

Bank Robbers Elude Police.

By the Associated Press.
JOPLIN, Mo., May 18.—Possession quit the chase yesterday afternoon for two men who in the morning held up and robbed the Farmers' and Miners Bank of Oronogo, Mo., of approximately $500. The robbers, possession said, were able to gain a considerable lead on their pursuers when they crossed railroad tracks a moment before a passenger train came by, forcing the pursuing car to halt. Possession lost track of the pair east of Webb City.Quality, Mileage and Price*Weight

How to Banish Piles

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Physician Who Discovered the Common Sense Remedy.

If you think the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

The Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, Wolff-Wilson Drug Co. and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every sufferer should secure a package of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID today.

During 1933 the Post-Dispatch printed 777,323 Total "Wants"—229,344 more than the THREE other St. Louis newspapers combined.

Resolution Condemning Teaching of Theory Referred to Committee—Declaration on War.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 18.—A resolution condemning the teaching of evolution, read to the Southern Baptist convention here yesterday, caused much excitement among the delegates. It was finally referred to a Committee on Resolutions, after a motion to table the resolution had failed.

The resolution commended the trustees of William Jewell College of Liberty, Mo., "for putting to death in that institution this order or system of teaching," condemned "such teaching and feels that its adherence, professing Christianity and at the same time denying the source thereof, are highly insane on the phantom of higher education," and asked that a commission be appointed to aid in "bringing about the death of all such teachings."

It was introduced by J. F. Brownlow of Columbia, Tenn., a banker. The reading of the resolution brought many delegates to their feet, some offering substitutes, some requesting the striking out of the name of William Jewell College and others raising points of order.

A resolution was adopted requesting "members of this body who attend the Stockholm gathering to use all available and proper means to have the Baptist World Alliance make a clear and concise declaration on war, which shall be in full harmony with the spirit and teaching of our Lord, Jesus Christ, as set forth in the Holy Scriptures, and shall be no wise biased by the demands of this world's governments."

About 500 local men's brotherhoods have been organized in the churches during the past year, Dr. J. T. Henderson, secretary of the laymen's missionary movement, reported. Study classes have been organized in various topics and subjects relating to Christianity are being followed by a larger number of men, the report stated.

Marked growth was experienced by Southern Baptists in their Sunday school and young peoples' work during the last year, according to the annual report of the Sunday school board. A total of 29,935 local Sunday schools was reported, with a combined enrollment of 2,220,033 pupils. While the number of Baptist Young Peoples' Unions was given as 13,388, with a membership of 483,166. There was a gain of 3300 unions and 157,434 members. The statistical report showed that there are 27,912 churches affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention, with a membership of 3,366,211.

One of the prominent features of the board's field work the last year was its rural campaign for the development of Sunday schools in 17 states of the country, upon which the board expended $2,510.71, which was supplemented by the various state boards.

Fort Worth Church Upholds Theory of Evolution.

By the Associated Press.
FORT WORTH, Tex., May 15.—Two hundred and fifty members of Trinity Episcopal Church last night adopted resolutions confirming their loyalty to the Protestant Episcopal Church, and holding it to be broad enough to contain all sorts and conditions of men and tolerant enough to permit those of varied intellectual attainments and personal opinions to unite in declaring their faith in the Apostles' creed.

The resolutions said there was nothing in the faith which contradicted the scientific theory of evolution, but on the contrary, this theory seemed to bring clearer "into view the majesty of the Creator. The right of both the fundamentalist and the modernist to remain in the church was expressed. Two hundred and fifty women members of the church adopted a resolution, upholding the rector, the Rev. Lee W. Houston, in a controversy with Bishop Harry T. Moore of Dallas on the question of fundamentalism.

FOUR SHOP STRIKERS SENTENCED

Former Rail Workers Admitted Blowing Up Bridge.

By the Associated Press.
HARRISBURG, Pa., May 18.—The trial of the nine former railroad shopmen of Leighton, Pa., charged with conspiring to interfere with the mails during the shopmen's strike last November, came to an abrupt end in Federal Court yesterday when four of the defendants pleaded guilty. The five others were dismissed for want of evidence.

The defendants were charged with dynamiting a dam and roundhouse of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, blowing up of the dam, it was alleged, cut off the water supply and delayed trains carrying the mails. Three of those who pleaded guilty—Samuel M. Hooper, Lester Frey and Charles Stroble—were each sentenced by Judge Witmer to pay a fine of $1000 and serve one year and nine months in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta. The fourth, George K. Kovner, was sentenced to one year and three months and a fine of $300.

Geller Heads Convention Bureau.
H. W. Geller, of the Geller, Ward & Hasner Hardware Co., was elected president of the St. Louis Convention Publicity and Tourists' Bureau to succeed Isaac Hedges at the annual meeting at Hotel Claridge yesterday. Charles F. Hartman, secretary-manager of the Bureau, was re-elected. Thomas Garland and Paul J. Wielandy were named vice-presidents and R. F. McNally treasurer.

CITY BOND PROGRAM FOR 1923 IS REOPENED

Citizen Advisors to Consider Plea for Training School at Bellefontaine Farm.

Determination of the projects in the 1923 program of construction under the $87,372,500 bond issue, which apparently had been settled, was reopened yesterday after members of the Board of Children's Guardians appealed to the Citizens' Supervisory Committee for reduction of some of the items, to permit an appropriation of $50,000 this year for a manual training building at Bellefontaine Farm for Boys.

It was charged that the Board of Public Service, in preparing the recommendations, had shown no interest in the Bellefontaine Farm project and had given the Children's Board of Guardians no satisfaction on requests that their project be put in the program. This was denied by President Kinney of the Board of Public Service.

The Supervisory Committee decided to have a committee, comprised of W. L. Sturdevant, W. J. Edwards and O. J. McCawley, confer with the Board of Public Service to see if the $50,000 could be inserted in the year's program.

Program Already Passed On. The Supervisory Committee, at yesterday's meeting and previous sessions, already had given either final or tentative approval to Board of Public Service recommendations totaling $3,000,000, the limit authorized for this year from tax-revenue bonds. Another item of $1,000,000 from waterworks bonds, which are separate from the tax-revenue bonds, has not been approved.

The Supervisory Committee approved a request by Water Commissioner Wall for an appropriation of $50,000 to purchase 150 acres of land at Howards Bend on the Missouri River, 13 miles west of the city, as the site for the new waterworks. Wall said an option had been obtained on the land at $150 an acre, which would total $22,500. He said when negotiations were opened the land was held at $500 an acre. The options expire Aug. 1.

The committee approved in advance, the necessary ordinances Commissioner Wall said the draft of the ordinances had not been completed, but he would try to place them before the committee next Thursday, that they might be introduced in the Board of Aldermen the following day, and passed by the Board of Aldermen before it goes into vacation.

Kinney placed seven ordinances before the committee relating to projects already approved by the Supervisory Committee when it passed on items in the complete program recommended by the Board of Public Service. He explained the ordinances could not be passed by the Board of Aldermen until bonds are sold, which probably will be in August, but the ordinances could go to the board, considered by committees and then sent to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment before the Board of Aldermen goes into vacation. This, he said, would expedite passage when bond money becomes available.

The ordinances were referred to the various sub-committees of the Supervisory Committee. They authorize work on a bridge over the River des Peres at Gravois avenue, $15,000; hospital for tubercular insane, $150,000; roads and pavements at St. Louis Training School for Feeble Minded, $45,000; women employees' building at Robert Koch Hospital, $85,000; kitchen building, $70,000; new morgue, $208,000 ($140,000 from bond issue and $68,000 from Easton avenues, $35,000).

BRIDGE APPROACH COST ESTIMATED AT $2,500,000

Survey of Proposed Northeast Route Indicates Outlay at $1,000,000 More Than City Bond Item.

KINSEY TO DRAFT CONDEMNATION BILL

Cost of Survey to Be Paid From General Revenue Appropriation—Approach Route Is 22,400 Feet Long

Cost of the proposed northeast cost railroad approach to the Municipal Bridge, for which $1,500,000 was included in the $7,372,500 bond issue voted last February for public improvements, probably will exceed $2,500,000, according to tentative estimates by city engineers. A survey of the proposed route of the approach has been completed and is in the hands of the Board of Public Service.

Definite plans for the approach on the Illinois side of the Mississippi River have not been drawn, but preliminary estimates are being made in the Board of Public Service, it was stated.

The survey shows the route to be 22,400 feet long and the minimum estimate that has been made is $100 a linear foot, which would total $2,240,000, and city engineers express the view the cost will be greater than $100 a foot.

Reports of the surveyor on the route have been turned over to President Kinsey, of the Board of Public Service. He said today that he would ask other members of the board to go over the route with him next week and the survey then will be placed before the board for approval. The proposed route is 60 feet wide.

The route approved by the board will be described in an ordinance to be drawn up by Kinsey, directing condemnation of the site. Kinsey yesterday told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he expected to have this ordinance ready for introduction in the Board of Aldermen before it recesses for the summer, probably the latter part of June. Two or three weeks will be required for preparation of the ordinance, he said.

Survey Cost $100,000.

Cost of the survey was $100,000, and this will be paid from an appropriation of $25,000 for that purpose from the current revenues of the city, authorized by the Board of Aldermen last year. The balance of this appropriation will be available, it was said, for the cost of searching titles of property involved in the condemnation procedure, and other costs of the action.

Frank H. Gerhart, an advocate of the northeastern approach, and others have urged early action on the condemnation suit, as the power of the city to institute a condemnation suit for land in Illinois for the bridge approach, conveyed under a Federal grant, will expire Feb. 10, 1934. This grant has been extended nine times and fear has been expressed that Congress might not grant another extension.

Gerhart, a member of the Citizens' Supervisory Committee on bond issue expenditures, recently told the committee that engineers had informed him the cost would not exceed $100 a linear foot. At that time, he advocated setting aside, or "impounding," $250,000 from the bonds to be sold this year, to pay for the site when condemned. That proposal was rejected on the committee policy of not approving appropriations until plans or ordinances were submitted.

President Kinsey told the committee the money would not be needed until the report of the condemnation commissioners was presented to the Federal court.

Members of the supervisory committee said they were not ready to pass on any appropriations for the approach, until assured by engineers that $1,500,000 would cover the cost.

The bond issue also provides $1,500,000 for another railroad approach to the free bridge at the St. Louis end of the structure.

Route of Approach.
The route adopted in the preliminary survey conforms to a general route prescribed in the northeastern bridge approach proposition submitted in the bond issue election on Feb. 9, last. It starts from the present railroad approach to the Free Bridge, near Thirteenth street and Bolsmore avenue, in East St. Louis, and extends northeast across Twenty-first street, immediately north of the Desverre freight yards of the Southern Railway Co.

The route then swings north to the terminus at a point about 2000 feet north of the main trunk line tracks and right of way of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Mr. Carson likes his wife's COOKING

Mr. Carson is distinctly a home man. He "likes his wife's cooking," as the phrase goes, and he is always generous with his compliments. This particular evening he was especially appreciative of the Coffee.

"I don't wonder that they call it The Universal Drink," he said thoughtfully. "Just think! While you and I are seated here tonight drinking our Coffee together, millions of other men and women in every section of the country are doing the same thing. Think of the cheer and added enjoyment that Coffee brings to the table of all those people! Why, it is almost indispensable!"

Mrs. Carson nodded. "I had never thought of that before, but you are right. Isn't it wonderful, too, to know that no family is so poor that it cannot afford Coffee? It is to me. I think of it every time I make up my order. Of all the things I buy, there is nothing that brings as much real, wholesome enjoyment at such small cost as Coffee."

SIX RULES FOR MAKING BETTER COFFEE

- 1—Keep your Coffee fresh
- 2—Measure carefully
- 3—Use grounds only once
- 4—Don't boil your Coffee
- 5—Serve at once
- 6—Scour the Coffee-pot

CUTICURA HEALS HARD PIMPLES
Festered and Scaly. Itched So Could Not Sleep.

"My face started breaking out with blackheads and pimples. The pimples were hard and red and would fester, and after they festered they became scaly and looked terrible. Some nights they would itch so I could hardly sleep. My face was badly disfigured and I was ashamed to go anywhere."

"A relative advised me to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I sent for a free sample. I purchased more, and after using five cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed."

(Signed) Miss Helen Young, 843 Holloway St., Akron, Ohio.

ADVERTISEMENTS

He Is Looking 'Em Over Again

"Eight years of stomach and liver trouble reduced me to a waiting skeleton. My skin was dried up and as yellow as a piece of old paper. I was unable to eat and had severe pains in my right side. I could not walk and had lost all inclination to do anything. Doctors' medicine did not seem to do any good. I had heard of Dr. Williams' Wonderful Kidney Pills which I bought from the druggist. I had heard that it was a simple looking medicine, but I was skeptical. I bought a box and after taking the first dose I felt a new sensation. The inflammation which caused my trouble was gradually disappearing. I was able to eat and sleep and my right side was no longer painful. I was able to walk and feel like a new man. I am now a healthy man and I am able to do my work. I am looking 'em over again."

P. D. Q. can also be purchased in sealed bottom double strength, 14 form, sold by Weir, Wilson Drug Co., Jacksonville, Fla.

EXTRA PENALTY IN LIFE TERM ON ANNIVERSARY OF MURDER

Illinois Judge Stipulates Slayer of Wife Must Spend That Day in Solitary Confinement.

CARMI, Ill., May 18.—Arthur J. Coleman, 25 years old, Grayville taxidermist, pleaded guilty to a charge of murder in the shooting of his wife, April 26. Coleman, in a statement said that his wife had left him and refused to return to him. He said that on the day of the tragedy he pulled a revolver from his pocket to frighten her. She screamed and he became excited and fired three times, he said. He turned the revolver upon himself but his elbow struck the door and the last shot in his weapon went wild.

Judge Miller sentenced Coleman to the penitentiary for life and added the stipulation that each anniversary of the crime should be spent in solitary confinement.

Set yourself straight on these Bran facts!

If you eat bran it is because you seek relief from constipation and toxic poisoning!

To get the relief your physician will tell you that bran will give—you must be certain to get Kellogg's Bran, BECAUSE it is ALL BRAN! That is the kind your physician intends you to eat.

You only delay positive relief when you eat foods with a partial bran content, because they can only help you in proportion to the amount of bran they contain! You haven't time to waste on 25 per cent or 50 per cent relief when you know that Kellogg's Bran will give you 100 per cent relief BECAUSE IT IS ALL BRAN!

Every day's delay lets your condition become worse! Pills and cathartics can only aggravate distressing conditions. Part bran foods cannot permanently help you! They do not have the necessary bulk or roughage that makes ALL BRAN positive in its mechanical action! That is why Kellogg's Bran is a necessity!

Kellogg's Bran—because it is ALL BRAN—is GUARANTEED to give you permanent relief if you will eat two tablespoonfuls each day, or as much with each meal in chronic cases!

If you would realize how delicious Kellogg's Bran is—cooked, krumbled and ready to eat—and what it means to your health—you would not lose a minute starting to eat it! All grocers sell Kellogg's Bran in the Red and Green package.

COURT TO DECIDE OWNERSHIP OF STOLEN AUTO SOLD 3 TIMES

Adjustment Firm Which Paid Insurance on It and Third Buyer Claim Coupe.

A Ford coupe, in the police garage, will probably stay there until someone gets an order of court for its removal. Up to Sept. 27 last the car belonged to Edwin Schroder of 5077 Washington boulevard. It was stolen from the curb in front of his home on that day. He made a claim on his insurance policy and the Bentley Adjustment Co. paid him for the loss.

Where the car was in the subsequent six months has not been learned. Last March the Federal authorities confiscated it in a liquor raid at Ziegler, Ill., and it was taken to East St. Louis and sold by the United States Marshal under an order approved by Judge English. The purchaser sold it May 1 to Joseph Goldstein of 4161 Lafayette avenue.

Two detectives of the automobile squad saw the car Saturday at Francis and Cottage avenues and examined it because it had no State license tag. Goldstein showed he had applied for a license, but the detectives took charge of the car. Goldstein holds that the sale, by the United States Marshal, should give a valid title, and that he owns the car. The adjustment company, which paid the original owner for the car, claims it, and the City Counselor has advised the police that the adjustment company appears to him to have a valid claim, and that later claims are invalidated by the theft.

PREMIER WAITS FOR A ROOM

Bonar Law Sits in Paris Lobby Until American Actress Checks Out.

PARIS, May 18.—When Bonar Law, the British Premier, arrived unexpectedly at the Hotel Crillon here, he was unable to get a room. The clerk admitted having received his telegram, but said the hotel was quite full.

"Is there any chance of getting a room later?" asked Bonar Law. "There may be departures at 11 o'clock," replied the clerk. "Well, that's only two hours," said Bonar Law, consulting his watch. "No [il] wait." And, unnoticed, sitting British Prime Minister waited until humbly on a lounge in a corner, the an American movie star checked out.

The Woman in Politics Remains the Woman Still

League of Women Voters Delegates
Interested in Dress, Children and Marcel Waves.

By MARGUERITE MARTYN.

WOMEN gossip between sessions of a League of Women Voters' convention, the same as anywhere else. Groups of women who recently have been taking part in political campaigns and legislative hearings are just as apt to be discussing the best makes of rompers for a growing boy, the latest smart repartee of the twins at home, the best place to get a marcel wave, and the next instant just as vivaciously airing their views on large state, national and international problems.

Mrs. Ben Hooper, who ran for United States Senator in Wisconsin last year, you might suppose, from that rare experience, would somehow seem a little different from the average run of women—a little awe inspiring. But no! She had come along with her husband, who was a delegate to the wholesale grocers' convention, and her chief concern for the moment was over their wardrobe, the gown she was to wear to the banquet and her husband's dress clothes, that, strapped to the running boards, had got soaked in the floods through which they had driven in Illinois.

Of course, she will make speeches while she is here. She is allotting one-fourth of all her time, for the rest of her life, and a good deal of her own money, if necessary, to the international peace program of the League of Women Voters.

Was there a remnant of bitterness over her defeat last fall? No, indeed! Quite the reverse. Nobody ever expected to cut into La Follette's majorities in Wisconsin, but she had run 26,000 votes ahead of the candidate for Governor on her own ticket, and, despite the fact that he compromised with the wets, she ran 5000 ahead of him in Milwaukee, which was supposed to be the wettest place in the State.

People Liked the Truth.
"I am entirely independent of my party organization, refusing to compromise on the wet and dry issue," she said. "I came out of the campaign as dry as I went in. I told the people the truth of what I knew, from lobbying in State and national legislatures, of the iniquitous influence of the liquor interests, and evidently they liked it. That is about all women can do in politics for the present. Go into campaigns and tell the absolute truth."

And Mrs. Mellicene Smith, our first woman legislator, whose amazing record of six of her own bills introduced, passed and now become laws, gave our political sages and prophets such a jolt—she is anything but awe-inspiring, too. The first difference you note in her is that, since becoming a legislator, she has lost 20 pounds, and the next thing that quickly she has turned the loss to an advantage by affecting most becomingly the newest and skimpiest of the straight-line Tut gowns. As to hats and hair, she is just as flirty and frilly as ever.

But Mrs. Smith is the greatest up-setter we've ever had of the theory that a woman has to neglect the finer, daintier of feminine arts and graces in order to be a shrewd politician and an honest and earnest worker for the public weal. She is just bubbling over with amusing anecdotes based on personal contacts and observations at Jefferson City, most of which are only for intimate groups, though there are some with which she regales semi-public gatherings.

One wonders how in accumulating so many side lights she could steer so straight a course to her objective. But she did, results show. She did it by observing an 18-hour-a-day schedule during the whole session and losing 20 pounds.

Little But Powerful.
Mrs. Charles Dietrich, who is director for the National League of Women Voters of the sixth region, which comprises eight states, including Missouri, was another notable figure at the convention, and anybody might be justified in expecting one of her powers and responsibilities to be of the pompous political boss type. She is, on the contrary, a small, bright-eyed, smiling little person, with a gentle, effortless voice, which, nevertheless, is easily heard in back rows of the largest hall.

Not all her solemn accomplishments in social service, philanthropy, managing a large estate, running her own farm and maintaining the social position of the wife of an ex-governor and ex-Senator, seem to have weighed very heavily upon her.

She drove her own car to St. Louis, as she does wherever she goes over her vast district. Women were most anxious about her during the two days it rained, knowing she was on her way, but she turned up smiling only a few hours behind her schedule. She was as chatty and eager and interested as if she had just stepped across the street instead of having driven across three states in a two-day steady downpour.

From all of which I am merely trying to convey the impression any ordinary woman gets while visiting around a convention of women organized for political purposes—how political interests and questions and exigencies are adjusting themselves to the terms of women, rather than women being changed and made over in their adjustment to politics.

Fashion News Notes

VERY SOFT KID is being used as a trimming on frocks of crepe de chine. The kid comes in delightfully striking shades. One black crepe de chine had collar and pockets of gold kid. The leather is usually stamped with an intricate design.

THE OLD-FASHIONED "WATER PROOF" has become such a thing of glory that one longs for rainy days. One of them is a fine ruby red, and has a water-proof cloche hat to match. Another is a beautiful shade of blue, gathered and galleoned and altogether chic.

PARASOLS today are exceedingly short and stubby, just escaping ugliness because the handles are so prettily decorated. Egyptian and Oriental designs in colors are painted or enameled on both handle and ferrule and the silk is resplendent with Laxor figures.

ORNAMENTS OF IVORY are increasingly popular today. The carved ivory plaques now swung on the ends of ribbons are fairly large and growing larger. Long, flat ivory earrings are high in favor, especially for wear with black costumes.

A SOFT AND GRACEFUL CAPE of pleated lace is one of the accessories for some of the printed muslin and also frocks worn in Paris. This cape is worn only with gowns that are lace trimmed.

A BIT OF FINE BLACK LACE is an edging used on both lingerie and handkerchiefs just now. White lingerie, whether of silk or linen, is likely to have black lace at its edge, and a tiny white linen handkerchief with black lace edging peeps from the pocket of many a smart suit.

A GLANCE AT the dancing feet in such representative places as the Savoy ballrooms in London indicates that the feather shoe is gaining favor. Bits of feathers in brilliant colors ornament this type of footwear. Another new shoe mode is the sandal of checked satin with a frill of pleated chiffon. Toes are becoming longer and more pointed.

LITTLE APRONS in organdie are a favorite bit of draping for afternoon frocks of crepe or printed silk. There may be as many as three aprons in organdie of white or a contrasting shade, all the aprons tying behind with ribbons.

M'LORD O' THE WHITE ROAD

Shale's brain grappled with the problem. He had never thought of this before, yet now he knew it was an almost natural thing to take place if ever it was revealed that he had posed as the master of Anderley Hall.

And so it must have been revealed. Someone must have found out that he was not the real Lord Anderley and at once the conclusion that he had slain the noble and taken his place had been jumped to.

"But it is a lie—a vile, utter lie," he gasped, fiercely staring down at Benjamin.

The little man nodded his head wisely.

"Aye, 'tis a lie, but nevertheless 'twill be difficult for you to prove it," he said, "and so I would advise you to get you out of Kent at greatest possible speed."

A deep oath broke from Shale. He felt himself being gripped by a mighty wrath.

"How did you learn this?" he growled.

"'Twas simple enough. Outside the gate of Sir Humphrey Clayville's manor—Clayville Grange—a notice hath been erected offering a reward for you—your body, alive or dead."

"Tis signed by Sir Humphrey himself, as district magistrate."

Shale felt his passion rise.

"So he's blazing it forth throughout the countryside," he hissed. "He—he hath dared to call me murderer—the man who himself sent Lord Anderley to his doom."

Benjamin started.

"Who told you that?" he gasped quickly.

Shale looked at him and suddenly recollected that he was gazing at one of the men whom he felt convinced had been paid by Sir Humphrey to do his dirty work.

His hand went out and grabbed the fellow by the throat.

"'Twas you and that other rogue, Simon, who did the foul deed," he roared. "Confess, knave, confess, or I'll choke the very life from your carcass."

The other's face blanched.

"Nay, master—'twas not I—do not kill me—'twas not I."

"Confess, or go to hell with your crime upon your soul," growled Shale with fierce passion.

"'Twas not I," screamed the wretch in terror, "I tell 'ee, 'twas not I—'twas Simon Grapplelight—I tried to stay him, but he fired ere I could give warning to m'lord. I swear before God 'tis truth I speak."

Shale released him, and stood glaring furiously down upon him.

"Ay, so it was Simon, eh?" he hissed. "'Tis well you told me, or I would have been a murderer in very truth, and you my victim. But now you will come with me and tell the world 'twill never be said that John Shale's name was blazoned abroad as a wanted man—a hunted murderer. If they want me they'll get me—aye—and you'll get the reward, Benjamin. The hundred guineas will be yours."

"Me get the reward—what mean you, master?"

Shale smiled with ominous grimace.

"I mean that you will accompany me, and together we'll visit Sir Humphrey Clayville and tell him who killed Lord Anderley. Aye, you'll tell them 'twas Simon, and you'll say also who it was paid him to do. 'Twill come well from the lips of you, Benjamin, since you can vouch for Sir Humphrey's guilt. Then, friend, the hunter may become the hunted, and you, Benjamin, shall have an easy conscience at last."

Benjamin looked about him in terror.

"No, no, master. Not that. Anything but that."

Shale looked at him fiercely.

"You'd let me be branded as a murderer, eh?" he growled. "You foul, cowardly knave."

Benjamin quaked again.

"Oh, what am I to do, master?" he cried in terror. "Harkee, I would go with you an' I could, but on the day that I tell the truth of Lord Anderley's death, Simon Grapplelight will stick a foot of steel into my heart. He's sworn to do it. Ah, woe is me."

Shale growled.

"So, that's why you were watching me, eh? You thought I was Simon, and you were awaiting your chance to slay him?"

Benjamin nodded.

"Aye, master—he knows that I am haunted by the face of the man he shot, and, being afraid that one day I should betray him, he hath sworn to kill me."

Shale scowled.

The First Truthful Biography Ever Written of SARAH BERNHARDT

By Madame Pierre Berton

Her Life-Long Intimate Friend

The Great Actress said to Madame Berton, "When I am gone, and you set down on paper all that I have told you, I want you to present to the world a true picture of Sarah Bernhardt as she really was—the Sarah the audience never knew."

TWELFTH INSTALMENT

How Victor Hugo, Sardou and Jean Richepin Worshipped at Sarah's Shrine.

DESPITE Sarah's violent changes of temper and her eccentricities, she had the gift for holding friends—as long as they did not become her lovers.

Which brings us to the case of Victor Hugo. After seeing her on the stage in "Hernani" in 1877 the great poet wrote:

"Madame: You have been great and charming; you have touched my heart—I, the old soldier—and, at a certain moment, while the enchanted and overwhelmed public applauded you, I cried. This tear which you caused to fall is yours, and I throw myself at your feet!"

"VICTOR HUGO."

Accompanying the note was the "tear"—a magnificent, pear-shaped diamond, suspended from a gold bracelet.

Years later, when Sarah was visiting Alfred Sassoon in London, she lost this bracelet and Sassoon, tremendously worried, begged to be permitted to replace the loss.

Sarah sadly shook her head. "Nothing," she said, "can ever replace the tear of Victor Hugo!"

I have heard unthinking gossip about Sarah's relations with Victor Hugo. Like the reports linking her name with that of Sardou, they were without foundation. Victor Hugo, when he met and worshipped at the shrine of Bernhardt, was an old man approaching the grave.

As for Sardou, I can assert with surety that he was not one of Bernhardt's lovers. She may have loved him, but he did not return the sentiment. He admired her, he was her good friend, but her eccentricities while appearing in his plays often tried his excitable Gallic soul. He used to despair over her lateness to rehearsals and her "inother side was an open wood, black with trees, but fairly free from underbrush.

Shale swung round the corner. 'Twas then that Benjamin saw his chance, and took it.

With Shale's back towards him for an instant he lowered his head and, like a fierce bull, charged.

There was a crash as his bulky carcass, hurled forward with all the strength of his little fat legs, struck Shale's mighty form.

Taken unawares, the latter staggered and pitched forward.

A fierce oath broke from his lips as he strove to recover. His foot went out like lightning to save himself, but instead of striking firm ground it crashed through a mass of weeds and ferns, and next instant he felt himself falling headlong into the deep ditch.

He landed on his left shoulder and side, and a gasp of pain broke from him as the terrific impact tore open the barely healed wound which Aylesbury's sword had made in his arm.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Boxer and Woof Woof Separate

By Thornton W. Burgess

The Great World calls each to his place
To prove his worth in life's great race.

It was the conceit of Boxer, Jimmy Skunk had taken the very last from him. He no longer felt boastful. In fact, Boxer wanted, above all things, to keep out of sight of everybody. You see, Jimmy Skunk had given Boxer a dose of that bad smelling scent which Jimmy carries with him all the time, but never uses excepting for his own protection. And Boxer couldn't get rid of it. Do what he would, he couldn't get rid of it.

Everyone kept out of Boxer's way. It wasn't because they were afraid of him, but because of that dreadful odor he carried with him. He couldn't enjoy his food. He couldn't enjoy anything. Oh, how he did wish that he had left Jimmy Skunk alone! "I'll never bother him again. No, sir; I'll never bother him again. When I meet Jimmy Skunk he can have the path," said Boxer over and over to himself.

Even Woof Woof, Boxer's twin sister, would have nothing to do with him. She wouldn't let him come anywhere near her. She told him very plainly that he had been served just right, and that she hoped it would be a lesson to him. She told him that he had been altogether too conceited, and that she hoped that now he would remember some of the things Mother Bear had told them when they were little. Then she said goodby.

"Where are you going?" whined Boxer. "I don't know, but I'm going somewhere where the air will be sweet and pleasant," retorted Woof Woof, and shuffled off.

Boxer wanted to follow her, but he hadn't the courage to. You see, he

"Where are you going?" whined Boxer that day. She didn't come back the next day. On the third day Boxer tried to find her. He wandered about this way and that way, all through the Green Forest, but never once did he get so much as a glimpse of Woof Woof. He found places where she had been. He found old logs she had pulled over, and rotted old stumps she had torn apart. But that was all he did find.

The fact is, Woof Woof had left the Green Forest. She had gone up to the Big Woods on the Great Mountain. She had parted from Boxer for good and all. Probably this parting

WORDS of WISE MEN

Travelers must be content.

The silence often of pure innocence persuades when reason fails.

It is the nature of every man to err, but of none but a fool to persevere in error.

The wisest man is he who does not fancy he is so at all.

It is too late to be cautious when in the very midst of dangers.

Grief is the agony of an instant, its indulgence the blunder of a lifetime.

Both to advise and be advised is a feature of real friendship.

A man should so think that anyone might be allowed to look into his inmost heart.

That and that alone is a disgrace to a man which he has deserved to suffer.

would have taken place soon even if Boxer hadn't had that trouble with Jimmy Skunk. You see, it was time for them to separate and go out into the Great World. It was the time which comes to all the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows. That was one reason why Mother Bear had driven Boxer and Woof Woof away, and told them never to come back. She had known that it was time for them to take care of themselves.

Perhaps Boxer wouldn't have minded so much had it not been that he couldn't get away from Jimmy Skunk's dreadful scent. Day by day it grew less and less, but it was with him for a long time. Whenever there was a damp, wet day, it became worse. "If only I could run away from it," Boxer kept saying over and over again. "If only I could run away from it." But, of course, he couldn't. He carried it right along with him.

Heart Hunger

By Sophie Irene Loeb.

A YEAR ago, when the world was glad
And all the birds made merry in mating time,
I walked through fields of green,
The spring sun bathing all with warmth—

Such days as poets weave great dreams about,
Days when human hopes beat high—
And I wanted to be glad with it all;
Yet within me came a strain of sadness,
Heart hunger—
For what I know not.
And so it always seems
At times when big moments come,
When nothing seems to mar,
Always, always there is the longing,
For what I know not—
Heart hunger.

Yesterday I walked again
Midst trees and shrubs
And felt the soft turf "neath my feet,
With scent of blossom in the air.
Not far from me the sound of soft laughter,
And I saw two lovers, heart to heart,
Pighting their troth and whispering
Age-old words of an undying devotion.
I smiled, and then that pain
Where only gladness should have been—
Heart hunger—
And I knew whereof—yes, now I know
It is the longing for Love,
The heritage of every human,
And no full measure of joy can come
Until it is appeased—
Heart hunger.

jealous society termed Sarah. He was hustled off by his family to be Consul of France in St. Petersburg, just as Dalama had been sent there as Consul of Greece. He, too, was tall and distinguished looking, and he also met with misfortune during his love affair with the actress. Luckily, the misfortune—a duel—did not cause his death.

after it failed, so that he could have the author's royalties.

Whenever and wherever "Pierrot, Assassin" was produced, in France or in Northern Europe, it was hissed, but Sarah would not stop playing it until an unfortunate incident at Montpellier. The students there interrupted us while we were in the midst of the pantomime, started a riot and demolished the interior of the theater. We were forced to steal out of the city in closed cabs during the night to escape their wrath.

Sarah's love affair with Edouard de Lagrenne, Consul of France, afforded an amazing instance of history repeating itself. Certainly he reminded her of the romance with Dalama, her husband.

De Lagrenne, like Dalama, was in the official service of his country; like Dalama he had relatives who strenuously objected to his association with "that woman" as

FATHER WILLARD.

"YOU are old, Father Willard," the young man said, "I'd say you're at least forty-three. Yet you haven't a single gray hair in your head. And you're sprightly and gay as can be."

"In the days of my youth," Father Willard replied, "I used to have birthdays galore; But I got a few wrinkles which made me decide To stop when I reached thirty-four."

GO TO IT.

Calli-Curel says she wants to do gingham and chase cows. It's all right with us if she can fix it with the cows.

But we must say that chasing kine would be our idea of morbid sport.

Thomas Edison predicts that in 20 years children will be taught by films instead of textbooks. We hope they won't grab their grammar from the screen.

Harry Wills complains that he has been sidetracked. That's better than being wrecked on the main line, in a head-on collision with J. D.

Those other Derby candidates will have to be up and coming to catch Vigil napping.

IT WOULD.

Wouldn't it be a joke on Tommy Gibbons if he should suddenly find himself the heavyweight champion and then have to go against L. Angel Firpo? Hot dawg!

It would be David and Goliath all over again, excepting that rocks would be barred.

However, as the feller sez, it's a remote contingency.

As Lloyd George says, American independence began with a "tee shot" into Boston Harbor. But was temporarily bunkered at Bunker Hill.

Willie Richie, who has been in retirement for eight years, announces that he will attempt a come-back and will shortly challenge Benny Leonard. Mr. Willard is responsible for that. How about paying the Flynn boys, Fireman and Porky?

THE INFIELD.

In the open spaces where men don't faint,

That's where the West begins;

But the open spaces where nobody ain't,

That's where the fun begins.

IT DO.

The man on the sandbox says it looks like Piggie Wiggie got his tail twisted in Wall street.

At any rate, his squeal can be heard all over the world.

Jess Willard may have come back, but not with what you would call a bang. In fact, Jess made his return by easy stages.

A FEW KIND WORDS FOR JIMMY.

DURING a political campaign in New York a Tammany leader of the East Side, a self-made man and one not completed in some respects, addressed a mass meeting of Italian-born voters on behalf of the Democratic ticket.

"Gentlemen and fellow citizens," he began, "I regard it as an honor to be permitted to address you upon the issues of the day. I have always had a deep admiration for yer native land. I venerate the memory of that great, that noble, that immortal Eyseltian who was the original and first discoverer of this here land of ours."

"Why, gentlemen, at me dear old mother's knee I was taught to sing that inspiring song: 'Columbus, the Jim of the Ocean.'"

Whereupon there was loud applause.

CHINA TO ENROLL

Shantung Governor Dispatches Messenger to Brigands With Commissions for Chiefs as They Demand

GOVERNMENT WILL WITHDRAW TROOPS

Letter From U. S. Prisoner, Speaking for Others, Appeals for Immediate Release as Hostages.

By the Associated Press.
PEKING, May 19.—Telegrams received late today by the American legation have increased hope that an agreement soon will be reached for the release of the foreign captives held by the Suchow bandits. Governor Tien Chung-Yu of Shantung Province has sent a messenger to the hills with army commissions for the bandit chiefs and an agreement to incorporate the entire bandit force in the Shantung army. Telegrams from Tsao Chung, near which 15 foreign captives are held by the mountain outlaws of Shantung, previously had indicated the Government representatives were on the point of abandoning negotiations for the release of hostages because of the bandits' extravagant demands.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 19.—A situation threatening defection among the Government troops sent in pursuit of the bandit force in Shantung province, China, was reported today in State Department advices. It was said that the soldiers had not been paid for 15 months, and were reported to be replenishing their pockets by selling ammunition to the bandits. In their efforts to placate the bandits, the Pekin officials are said to have granted a demand that Suen Mei Yao and other leaders of the band be given army commissions and to have agreed to withdraw the Government troops gradually in return for the release of the captives. As a result of this and other complications, the foreign diplomatic council in Pekin has decided to make new and stronger representations to the Chinese Government for release of the foreigners still held captive in the bandit camp.

By the Associated Press.
TIENTSIN, May 19.—Margel O. Berube, recent captive of the Shantung bandits, who was released to carry the outlaws' ultimatum to the Chinese Government, is on his way to Pekin with the message. It is said the bandits threaten to shoot two American and two boy captives unless the Government troops are withdrawn from the vicinity of the Patzuku mountain stronghold by next Tuesday.

By the Associated Press.
SHANGHAI, May 19.—Unless the foreign Powers unite in forcing the Chinese Government to realize that the Suchow bandits are ready to forfeit their own lives and those of their captives in their determination to have their demands met, "we are doomed," was the word received here last night from Leon Friedman, one of the Americans held in the Patzuku mountain stronghold of the brigands.

Friedman's letter, which painted a pitiful picture of the captives' condition, has stirred public feeling in Shanghai. The China Press, the American newspaper, backed by a number of prominent Americans, has called a mass meeting for tomorrow to make urgent representations to Washington.

The meeting, it is expected, will point out the necessity of the Powers guaranteeing that the promises made by the Pekin Government to the brigands will be kept. Foreigners here and in other cities in China are becoming increasingly alarmed for the safety of the prisoners and the situation is almost the sole topic of conversation in all foreign circles.

Conditions Really Terrible.
Following is Friedman's letter: "We have no bedding or cooking utensils and are compelled to sleep on the ground. Conditions really are terrible."

"Some of the captives purposely sent out reassuring letters during the first few days of their detention, hoping in this way to calm the fears of their friends and relatives. These
